MORE DOING—LESS HARPING

Appropriate Gifts For the Son of Man

By A. J. PICKFORD
Forestry Employee, Roman Catholic

IT IS the secret hope of every parent that his child may one day contribute something to the world; yet no infant throughout Christendom has given more to mankind than the Son of God. Christmas is His birthday. It is also a time for giving. No other holiday is celebrated more lavishly or with such feeling of brotherly love. Despite all that is good and fitting on this day, we give little thought to HIM Whose birthday it is.

One may ask "Is there on earth an appropriate gift for the Son of Man?" I think there is. Here are my gift suggestions:

More of us to "improve," "fewer merely to disapprove."

More "doers," fewer "talkers."

More to say "it can be done," fewer to say "it can't be done."

More to inspire others with "confidence," fewer to throw "cold water" on anyone taking even one step in the right direction.

More to get into the thick of things and "do something about it," fewer to sit on the side lines merely "finding fault."

More to point out "what's right with the world," fewer to keep harping on "what's wrong with it."

More to be interested in "lighting candles," fewer in blowing them out.

I believe that any one of these aims, honestly applied, is not only a fitting birthday present for Our Lord, but a Christmas gift to the whole of humanity.

MINISTERS DETERMINED

Berlin Meeting Won't Shake NATO

PARIS (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty ministers agreed today that the Western Big Three must hold fast against Soviet efforts to break up their 14-nation defensive alliance.

With pledges from British, American and French foreign ministers that NATO will not be surrendered at the proposed January talks with the Russians at Berlin, the NATO ministers began drafting a "hold fast" platform for the West in the final NATO council communique, official sources said.

The ministers unanimously agreed Soviet strategy and the Kremlin's ultimate aim of world domination for Communism will not be changed even if Moscow agrees to meet in a four-power ministerial conference on the German and Austrian issues. The Russians have not yet replied to the Western invitation to such a meeting.

The NATO council of ministers went into their closing sessions considerably cheered by the Eisenhower administration's pledge to try to get congressional approval for sharing some U.S. secrets on atom weapons.

U.S. PWs Ready To Return Home Says South Korean

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—An escaped South Korean prisoner of the Communists said today three or four of the 22 Americans held by the Reds want to go home but fear their companions will stab them to death if they request repatriation or make a break for freedom.

United States envoy Arthur H. Dean headed today for Washington.

As he boarded an airliner here, Dean told reporters it is "distinctly possible" talks to set up a peace conference will be resumed.

15-Year-Old Held In Death Of Island Man

Youth Charged As Delinquent

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—A 15-year-old boy is in custody here today in connection with the death of 45-year-old George Harold Kenny.

RCMP reported that Kenny was fatally injured in an early morning fight at his home in South Wellington, six miles south of here. Police investigators said there was evidence of a "violent struggle." Neighbors called police to the house to report a family quarrel.

Charged with delinquency, the boy appeared before Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts in juvenile court today and was remanded until Jan. 6. Police said he may be formally charged with murder.

Magistrate Beevor-Potts will confer with the attorney-general's department regarding the charge.

Kenny, a farmer and logger, came to South Wellington from Alberni a year ago.

U.S. Allows TCA Extension To Mexico

OTTAWA (CP)—The United States has agreed to lift restrictions hampering the extension of the Trans-Canada Air Lines Montreal-Tampa air route to Mexico City, it was learned today.

Transport Minister Chevrier is expected to announce this in the Commons later today.

Under previous U.S. regulations, TCA was requested to use two aircraft in opening the proposed new Montreal-Mexico City flight, one aircraft taking passengers to Tampa and the other picking up passengers at Tampa for the remainder of the flight to Mexico City.

TCA protested that the use of two aircraft was uneconomic. Opening of the new line was suspended and the Canadian government took preliminary steps to impose similar restrictions on American air line flying over Canadian territory.

Labor Censure, Party Split Hits Tories

LONDON (UP) — The Labor Party launched a censure attack over African affairs at the government today while a Conservative "revolt" against it over Egypt gained strength.

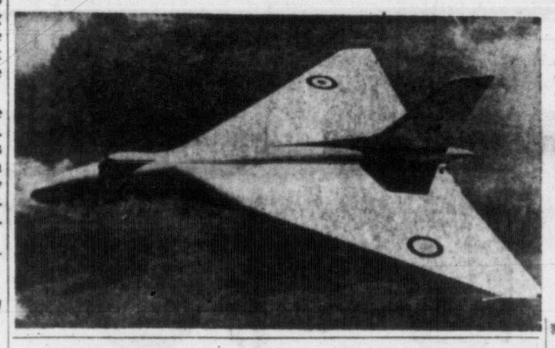
The Laborite censure motion sponsored by former prime minister Clement Attlee and other top party leaders was scheduled to come to a vote tonight. Prime Minister Churchill's government seemed certain to win.

But more Conservative members of parliament added their names to a motion urging the government to break off negotiations with Egypt over Suez Canal zone. The "rebels," now numbering 39, warned withdrawal of British troops from the canal zone would endanger Israel and might involve Britain in a Middle Eastern war.

With the government's majority only 18 in the House of Commons, the rebels could be a dangerous fact or in the event of a showdown.

Pilot Hits 1,650 MPH, One Mile In 2 Seconds

From Kitty Hawk to 'Mach 2.5'



Three pictures giving a glimpse of the vast strides in aviation in 50 years. Top is the rickety contraption in which Orville Wright flew for 120 feet at eight miles an hour on December 17, 1903, the first powered flight in history. Second is a Viscount Turbo-Prop which Trans-Canada Airlines has ordered for Canadian service. At left is Britain's new delta-winged jet bomber, Avro 698, which demonstrates the enormous changes in aircraft design.

New World's Record For U.S. Rocket Plane

WASHINGTON (UP)—Maj. Charles E. Yeager has flown two and one-half times the speed of sound—about 1,650 miles an hour—in the air force's X-1A rocket plane, it was reported today.

Informed sources said the West Virginia-born test pilot achieved the record-shattering speed last Saturday in an historic flight over Edwards Air Force base, California.

Yeager thus regained the title of the world's fastest man which he had won originally on Oct. 14, 1947, in the X-1 rocket-powered research plane, a ship of shorter endurance than the X-1A. Both were built by Bell Aircraft Corp.

Yeager's reported speed eclipsed the officially-announced all-time record of 1,327 mph which was set Nov. 21 by Scott Crossfield, test pilot for the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Crossfield flew the navy's Douglas-built Skyrocket. He claims to be the first to fly twice the speed of sound.

Sound travels at 760 miles an hour at sea level, but drops off to abou. 660 mph in the cold air above 30,000 feet.

It was learned there is a controversy within the government over whether to announce Yeager's feat. One segment of the air force hopes that President Eisenhower will announce it officially, with precise figures on speed and altitude, at an aero club dinner here Thursday night marking the 50th anniversary of powered flight.

Carried Aloft in Belly of Bomber

Yeager's reported speed of two and a half times the speed of sound in the fat, stubby-winger X-1A is half-mile per second. Just 50 years ago Thursday, by contrast, the Wright brothers' plane flew 852 feet in 59 seconds on the longest of four hops it made at Kitty Hawk, N.C.

Neither the X-1A nor the Skyrocket is a combat plane. Both are research craft designed to gather data about high-speed flight for use in designing practical warplanes. Both have very limited endurance. They are carried aloft in the belly of a bomber and released at high altitudes to fly under their own power.

The fastest speed known to have been reached by a U.S. combat plane was 1.38 times the speed of sound—about 910 mph. It was learned an air force F-100 Supersabre was flown that fast last week, although there has been no official announcement.

The original X-1 was designed to fly 1,700 mph at 80,000 feet but could not quite make it because it couldn't carry enough fuel. The X-1A is similarly equipped, with four 1,500-pound thrust rocket motors, but can carry more of the liquid oxygen and alcohol-water mixture used as fuel.

Orville Wright's First Power Flight Recalled

In Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, tomorrow great celebrations will take place to mark the 50th year since man first took to the air in powered flight.

It was on December 17, 1903, that Orville Wright made his historic flight, after years of experiments.

He lay at full length on the flimsy contraption, grabbing the primitive controls. There was a 27-mile-an-hour wind. The plane was set on a track laid on the sands.

Orville's own description of the flight, written before his death in 1948, was simple:

"Wilbur having used his turn in the unsuccessful attempts on the 14th (December, 1903), the right to the first trial now belonged to me."

"After running the motor the machine started forward . . . I released the wire that held the machine to the track . . . It lifted from the track after a 40-foot run."

"The course of the plane up and down was erratic. At moments it rose as high as 10 feet.

"A sudden dart when a little over 100 feet from the end of the track, or a little over 120 feet from the point at which it rose into the air, ended the flight."

The historic flight lasted 12 seconds.

Canada Plays Top Role In Advance of Aviation

A half-century of startling progress in the field of powered flight ends Thursday.

On Dec. 17, 1903, the first aircraft driven by a motor took to the air, but even before that time, Canadians were playing a leading role in research and experimentation.

Since then, the progressive advance of civil air transport has helped make Canada a power in the world.

In this nation, aerodynamic research began in 1902, in a wind tunnel constructed by Walter R. Turnbull of New Brunswick. During the First World War, he developed the basic variable pitch constant speed propeller, the fundamental ideas of which are in use today.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell also conducted early experiments with kites and air screws, at Baddeck, N.S., and his work prepared the way for the first known aeroplane flight in the Commonwealth. J. A. D. McCurdy, former lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, flew the "Silver Dart" from the ice at Baddeck Bay in 1909. This was the first plane to use aileron control, without which modern day flight woud be next to impossible.

Following the First World War, commercial "bush" flying developed in Canada, and the experience gained by these pioneer pilots formed the basis for present-day commercial aviation.

Canadians have also been active at the council tables where representatives of governments and airlines establish international order in air transport procedures and practices.

The first president of international Air Transport Association was H. J. Symington, a Canadian, and headquarters of both IATA and International Civil Aviation Organization were established in Montreal, primarily because of the lead Canadians had taken in these activities.

Canadian airlines will distribute golden anniversary flight certificates to all passengers Thursday.

DUNTON PREDICTS 2ND STATION

CBC-TV Telecasts Start at 6 Tonight

CBC-TV is in partnership with private interests to establish a Canadian network, A. Davidson Dunton, chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, announced in Vancouver today.

In B.C. to open CBC's west coast outlet CBUT at 6 p.m. today, Mr. Dunton said "We expect that there will be at least one more TV station in the Vancouver area eventually".

Opening program will feature Bernie Braden and Barbara Kelly, both of Vancouver, now starring on British TV, in a film short.

(See Page 29)

Broadcasting on Channel 2, CBUT will be operating on a limited five-hour schedule until completion of a permanent antenna on Mount Seymour and studios in downtown Vancouver.

For the present, programs will be nearly all of eastern Canadian origin, with the exception of news and local sports coverage.

Reception of test patterns has assured viewers of a powerful signal, and next year, when the present 2,500 watt output is increased to 100,000 watts, the picture will be better.

CBUT's transmitter and antenna has been designed to give the maximum range. Beamed toward the heavily-populated Fraser Valley and to the TV-conscious homes of Vancouver Island, Vancouver's transmitter antenna is located on the 2,700 foot level of Mount Seymour, highest of any TV station in Canada.

WIRE BRIEFS

U.K. Rail Strike Off

LONDON (UP)—Union leaders tentatively agreed today to accept a compromise "peace" plan and call off a scheduled nation-wide Christmas railway strike.

Housing Bill Presented

OTTAWA (BUP)—The government's new Housing Act, which will permit Canadians to build $10,000 homes with down payments of $1,400 and 25 years to pay, was introduced by Public Works Minister Robert H. Winters today.

Stampede Founder Dies

CALGARY (CP) — Funeral services for Guy Weadick, originator of the world-famous Calgary Stampede, will be held in High River, Alta., on a date yet to be announced. Weadick died suddenly Monday in retirement at Phoenix, Ariz. He was 68.

Church Leader Dead

TORONTO (CP)—Rev. Dr. Gordon Alfred Sisco, secretary of the general council of the United Church of Canada since 1936, died early today. He was 62.

Fearful Friends Of Toronto Girl Quit Their Jobs

TORONTO (BUP)—Two girls who worked in a downtown office next to kidnapped Marion McDowell and slain Norma Schreiber quit their jobs today, terrified they might be next, although police insisted the two crimes were sheer coincidence.

Neither girl reported for work today, and both told their employers they wouldn't be back. They said they couldn't face the strain of staring at those two empty desks.

Joseph Shreiber, 27-year-old brokerage clerk, was charged with murder Tuesday after his blonde 23-year-old wife was found strangled in their east end Toronto apartment.

He appeared in court today and was remanded to December 23. Police said there would be several more remands before the case comes to a hearing.

A BOWL OF BARLEY GRUEL

Korea Fund Praised by Sailor

"It's impossible to tell how you feel about seeing a child starving," says 24-year-old PO Tom Reynolds, aboard Athabaskan which has just returned from 14 months in Korean waters.

"You can't explain things like that . . . all the guys give them everything they've got anyway . . . but there are so many of them . . ."

He was commenting on the "good work" of The Times' fund to aid Korea's 50,000 war orphans. Money collected on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee stands today at $5,990.26. Exactly 210 people donated since Tuesday.

The USC objective is $125,000 by Christmas. Funds will go to buy Canadian barley which will be made into hot gruel for the hordes of emaciated children roaming streets and alleys. Both time and money are short.

Korea, says PO Reynolds, is a backward country by modern standards, but the Koreans are an industrious race. They can't help the predicament they are in . . . nor can they help their children. Before the recent conflict Korea exported huge quantities of rice. Today the nation is starving. At the "level" of the kids, this hurts most.

"They are the left-overs," he says.

Close to 1,000 people have responded to date to The Times' appeal. A letter received today from a Sidney man read: "You have been very generous . . . my blind sister and I have decided to have no extras for Christmas and sent what it would be to the Korean orphans."

More and more contributions are being received from companies, church groups, lodges and from service personnel funds. The 119th Battery at Work Point Barracks donated today, as did men aboard HMCS Sioux.

Contributions may be brought or mailed to The Times' Broad Street office, or to the office at 2631 Douglas Street. Cheques may be made payable to The Times' fund or The Times' Korean children's fund.

PALE FACE GETS PEEK AT KWAKIUTL POTLATCH

Open house for the public is scheduled this evening on the third and final day of an Indian potlatch marking the opening of a Kwakiutl tribal house at Victoria's Thunderbird Park.

Colorful ceremonies and native dances before an open fire in the centre of the dirt-floor house built by Chief Mungo Martin will be included in a program starting at 8 p.m.

Program Tuesday was witnessed by special guests from the government and industry which aided in the construction of the house. For pictures of the festival, See Page 19.

Rudderless Liner Heading Toward Oslo

CO Hopes to Land Passengers Thursday

OSLO, Norway (UP) — The rudderless Norwegian liner Stavangerfjord, victor in a grim battle against the stormy Atlantic, nosed through the tricky Pentland Firth off northern Scotland today and headed for Oslo with its 944 passengers and crew.

With grim irony, its doughty skipper, Capt. Olaf Bjoernstad flew the signal flag "out of control" from the masthead.

He was working his ship along by using first one of his two propellers, then the other, in the absence of the rudder which the Stavangerfjord lost off Newfoundland.

The Stavangerfjord is now proceeding at a steady 300 miles a day and Bjoernstad hopes to land his passengers, including hundreds of Scandinavian-Americans on the way to their old homelands for Christmas, at 7 p.m., Thursday, 10 a.m. PST.

The British salvage tug Tugmoil, which tried vainly to save the freighter Flying Enterprise of skipper "Stay Put" Kurt Carlsen will accompany the liner to Fuglehuk lighthouse at the mouth of narrow Oslo Fjord.

Policeman, Thug Killed In Gun Fight

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP) —Two fugitive bandits, using a sailor and a bartender as human shields, shot a patrolman to death early today shortly before one was killed by police and the other was recaptured.

Patrolman T. A. Robinson, about 28, was killed with a shot in the head. He fell fatally wounded as bank bandits Myron Goldman, 32, and Samuel Hornbeck, 34—both wanted as fugitives from prison in Savannah, Ga., where they were convicted of bank robbery — blazed their way out of a surrounded night club.

Hornbeck was run down and captured in a stolen car about 40 miles from the scene. Goldman's body was found about five hours after the night club getaway.

Officers said he apparently was wounded in a fight just outside the city limits when a patrol car spotted his car, with motor idling, just outside the back door of a bar.

4 Men Drown When Car Drops Into N.B. River

HAMMOND RIVER, N.B., (BUP) — Four men drowned Wednesday night when a car crashed through a guard rail and dropped 22 feet into the Hammond River.

The victims whose bodies were recovered when the car was raised, were John M. MacQuarrie, Fred Fraser, Frank G. Braden and A. C. Titus.

The four were driving towards Saint John after a cattle-buying trip in the province. Two of them were merchants.

Federals Sweep First Vote In Central Africa

Party Advocates Co-Operation

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (CP) — The Federal Party, which has pledged partnership between Africans and whites in the development of the new central African federation, has won a sweeping victory in the federation's first general election.

Sir Godfrey Huggins' party, which campaigned on the racial partnership pledge, had won 14 seats on the basis of the count at mid-day today of Tuesday's voting. The Confederate party of J. R. Dendy Young, which favors a policy of segregation, hadn't won a single seat, although one independent was elected to the 35-member parliament.

Results from Nyasaland and parts of Southern Rhodesia are still to come, but in the popular vote up to Tuesday night's final count the Federal party had 19,847 compared with 7,850 for the Confederates and 873 for the independents.

The fate of Dendy in his personal race remained in doubt.

Only underwater vehicular tunnel between two nations is the Detroit - Windsor tunnel, which connects the United States and Canada.

TOSS OF COIN MAY DECIDE ORILLIA MAYOR

ORILLIA, Ont. (BUP)—A toss of a coin could decide the new mayor of Orillia today from two candidates who polled 1,227 votes each.

The official ballot released by the chief returning officer, Town Clerk H. E. Morgan Payne, gave Reeve Hugh Johnston and Deputy Reeve John R. MacIsaac the tie and sent Mayor Wilbur M. Cramp down to defeat in the three-way fight with 1,163 votes.

If today's recount still left the race a draw, it would then be up to Clerk Payne to name the winner. Because of his official position he is not permitted to vote for candidates seeking public office. The general practice in such an eventuality is for the clerk to toss a coin.

Criminal Code Amendments Up For Study

OTTAWA (CP) — A Commons-Senate committee is going to tackle the possibilities of abolishing capital punishment and whipping and whether lotteries should be permitted in Canada.

At the same time, the legal defense of insanity will be studied by a Royal commission.

The twin attack on the knottiest problems in the Criminal Code was announced Thursday night in the Commons by Justice Minister Garson. (Mr. Garson's move was predicted by Times' Ottawa correspondent Victor Mackie, Monday, in an exclusive article.)

All parties later approved the principle of revising the Criminal Code and the House gave second reading to a bill outlining the changes. Clause-by-clause study will be taken up by the Commons after Christmas recess.

Police Two Minutes Too Late To Avert Ontario Murder-Suicide

TORONTO (BUP) — East York police said today they came within two minutes of averting a double shooting and the first murder in the township since the force was organized in 1924.

A police car was on the way to the home of Alfred Lindsay, 49, when he ended a loud argument by putting a 22-calibre bullet through his wife's forehead and another into her chest.

He then ignored their five-month-old daughter, went into a bedroom, sat down and shot himself in the chest.

The couple left five children.

Lindsay, unemployed recently although he was an expert refrigeration mechanic, arrived home early Tuesday. His wife, Adeline May Lindsay, 46, had been on the point of arranging a legal separation and a few days ago asked her husband, who had been drinking, to leave the house.

Mrs. Sarah Seddon, who lived in the basement apartment heard the couple arguing and investigated when she heard Mrs. Lindsay shout, "Help! He's going to shoot me!"

She found Lindsay standing over his wife with the gun pointed at her head and was told to get out or "I'll let you have it."

She called police from a neighbor's apartment.

Man Who Assaulted Mountie Faces Trial on Theft Count

DUNCAN — Clifford Dawley, 30, of Vancouver, was committed Tuesday for trial in a higher court after a preliminary hearing here on four separate charges.

They arose out of a minor crime wave December 6 and 7, in which a police officer was assaulted while arresting a suspect.

Dawley was committed by Magistrate A. C. Sutton on charges of theft of a truck owned by Sunny Brae Dairy, theft of a car owned by Dr. W. K. Murchie, and possession of house-breaking tools by night.

Magistrate Sutton dismissed a charge of breaking and entering Stewart & Hudson building supplies store for lack of evidence, and Dawley pleaded guilty to a fifth charge of assaulting a police officer.

He was remanded to Friday for sentence. James Strachan, defense counsel, asked an adjournment to present character witnesses for the accused.

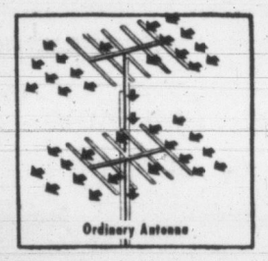
IF IT ISN'T A DAVIS ANTENNA YOU'RE OUT OF DATE!

HERE'S WHY—



With the ordinary antenna, note how the picture signals pass by because it is not engineered for maximum reception. You are limited to fewer channels . . . often "snow," streaks and distortion obscure the picture and ruin your enjoyment. Your entertainment becomes limited and quality is far below standard.

But very little of the picture signals escape the large reflector on the Davis Super-Vision ALL-CHANNEL antenna which is electronically engineered for maximum efficiency. You get sharp, clear pictures even in fringe and canyon areas. For finer reception, have the Davis Antenna installed with your new TV set, or with the one you already have! Skidding Car Injures Two, Breaks Off Power Line Pole

Crushed into useless scrap is the car in which Charles McIsaac, 20, and Frank Lapp, 18, were riding when it skidded into a power line pole at Gorge and Harriet late Tuesday. Both are in hospital today, McIsaac in poor condition. Police say he suffered multiple skull fractures. Ten accidents have occurred in that immediate area this year, one of them a fatality. The intersection forms a Saanich-city boundary. The smash was the first to occur on the city side this year. The shattered pole, braced by BCER linesmen, can be seen at left of intersection picture. Car was wrapped almost completely around it.

WILD WEST STORIES, CROSSWORDS

Kidnappers Unruffled As Death Date Nears

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) —The Greenlease kidnap-killers spent part of their time today reading wild west stories and working cross word puzzles, outwardly nonchalant about their execution early Friday.

Carl Austin Hall, 34-year-old playboy, and Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, his paramour, gave no outward signs of cracking before their death in the gas chamber.

They pay with their lives, side by side, a few minutes after midnight Thursday night for the killing of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease which they planned before they kidnapped him Sept. 28 in Kansas City.

The only enigma of the crime left is what happened to half of the $600,000 ransom paid by Bobby's multi-millionaire father, Robert C. Greenlease. The missing money, which Hall has insisted he had with him when arrested in St. Louis the night of October 6, has become the object of an inquiry by a federal grand jury at Kansas City, the FBI and the St. Louis police board.

SHOW NO CONCERN

The killers have shown no apparent concern about their deaths, although Hall has asked an Episcopalian minister, Rev. George L. Evans, of Kansas City, to stay with him "until the very end."

Hall has been reading wild west magazines. Mrs. Heady has kept busy with crossword puzzles in newspapers. Neither has shown any interest in hundreds of pounds of mail sent to them but detoured by prison authorities at their request.

Both have gained weight since entering their death row cells Nov. 20, the day after they were convicted. Hall has said he has gained about 20 pounds. Mrs. Heady has put on about five. Their faces are full, free of wrinkles, and Mrs. Heady has even joked about the roll of fat she was told Hall has acquired around his midriff.

Neither has had any exercise since walking into the narrow confinement of their solitary cells, where they can neither see nor talk with one another. Their only contact is with the prison guards stationed just outside their cells and with occasional, carefully screened visitors.

Eighth Grader Attacks 14-Year Girl With Pipe

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—An eighth grade honor student who attacked a pretty neighbor girl with a 14-inch lead pipe said today "something just came over me."

Roque Castro, Jr., 13, a scholarly-looking and quiet youth, was taken to youth guidance centre on charges of assault with intent to commit murder and juvenile delinquency as a result of the attack.

His victim, red-haired Linda Frey, 14-year-old high school freshman and daughter of a well-to-do oil company salesman was recovering from cuts and other injuries and loss of blood.

Roque said he didn't know why he beat the girl.

'HOLIDAY SEASON' BAIL

Move Seen to Free B.C. Mother for Christmas

MISSION, B.C. (BUP) — A rare legal manoeuvre appeared in the making today to permit a housewife accused of murder to spend Christmas at home with her husband and three children.

Tom Goode, a Liberal member of parliament for Burnaby-Richmond, said he may intercede with the minister of justice and the attorney-general to gain "holiday season" bail for Mrs. John Brown, 25, accused of killing telegraph lineman Ollie Johnson with a .22 calibre rifle fired through the door of her home when he knocked on it at 12.15 a.m. Saturday.

Bail is rarely granted in murder cases. Officials in Vancouver said they could remember no such cases, at least recently, in British Columbia.

"If I find the facts are as stated, I will contact the attorney-general and the minister of justice on Mrs. Brown's behalf," Goode said.

British Peer Declared Innocent of Charges

WINCHESTER, Eng. (Reuters)—Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, 27, today was acquitted of a charge of committing a sexual offense against a Boy Scout last Aug. 3.

The jury disagreed on a second charge of indecent assault.

Saanich May Postpone School Building Plan

Consideration of New Construction May Await Legislative Amendments

G. L. Chatterton, chairman of Saanich School District No. 63, said today consideration of the proposed school building program for his area may have to be delayed until the provincial legislature amends the School Construction Act this spring.

The school board chairman said the board will not put such a referendum as the one voted on by the Greater Victoria ratepayers last week. This referendum was turned down by the electorate.

He added that the board members had not yet made up their minds on what action they should take in view of the controversy over the legality of the referendum in Victoria. "The entire building project may have to be delayed until this question is cleared up," he added.

The cost of the school building program, he said, had not yet been estimated, but it included classroom accommodation for the entire district for the next five years. Twenty-three rooms should be added to present schools or be constituted as separate schools, he said.

Senator Thinks West Provinces Should Split NWT

OTTAWA (BUP) — Canada could proclaim her ownership of the Arctic islands by splitting the Northwest Territories among the four western provinces, Sen. W. M. Aseltine (PC-Saskatchewan) suggested Tuesday.

Aseltine, acting leader of the opposition in the Upper House, said he felt sure British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba would be glad to take over segments of the territories stretching north from their boundaries.

The vast area now is controlled by the federal government.

AFL-CIO No Raiding Pact in Effect Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (UP) — CIO and AFL leaders met today to sign a "no raiding" agreement which was hailed as the first concrete step toward unity in almost 20 years of sporadic efforts to merge the two big labor organizations.

The agreement, to go into effect Jan. 1, is intended to halt the "raids" in which one union tries to take over another union's membership.

Perhaps the oldest road on earth winds across the Near East between the valleys of the Euphrates and Nile River. Camel trains and marching armies packed down this ancient caravan route thousands of years before the Christian era.

Mr. Bennett's Investment Plan

MR. BENNETT'S PLANS FOR A huge federal program of investment in British Columbia, however desirable those investments may be in themselves, must be considered against more than a provincial background.

In the first place, it should be realized that the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, the largest item on Mr. Bennett's agenda, is not the responsibility of the national government or of the national taxpayers that it represents. It is purely the creature and the responsibility of the Provincial Government.

The Bennett Government did not build the P.G.E. and cannot be held accountable for its burden on the British Columbia taxpayers. Nevertheless, it cannot escape these costs unless the Federal Government or some private purchaser will take the railway off its hands.

Mr. St. Laurent says he is not buying any railways, even toy railways for his grandchildren's Christmas. His reasons are understandable and they have been accepted by every Federal Government since the P.G.E. was built. The nation, in plain terms, cannot bail the provinces out of their mistakes.

If Mr. St. Laurent were to rescue Mr. Bennett from the P.G.E., he would be bound to rescue every other province out of some similar problem and thus encourage it to embark on similar adventures, assured of rescue in the future. The Federal Government helped British Columbia to extend the P.G.E. to Prince George. More help of that sort may be available for further extensions. But the fact remains that Ottawa is not taking over our white elephant.

The same sort of considerations apply, in some degree at least, to Mr. Bennett's plans for a gigantic program of road construction and forest conservation in British Columbia. Whether these particular plans are sound and economic or not, the Federal Government must first consider whether it can afford to finance them out of national taxes; and the taxpayers of British Columbia must realize that they must pay, through federal taxes, their full share of the cost, which cannot be conveniently handed on to other taxpayers entire.

The Federal Government cannot undertake such expenditures in British Columbia without applying the same policies to other provinces. Roughly speaking, an investment program of some $238 millions, as proposed for British Columbia—the Federal and Provincial Governments splitting the cost—would have to be multiplied 15 times to provide similar expenditures throughout Canada. That is a lot of money and cannot be spent lightly.

It is true that the Federal Government already is embarked on a gigantic project, the St. Lawrence seaway, in Ontario and Quebec, but that work is clearly designed for the benefit of the whole nation and cannot be regarded for a moment as affecting only the two great central provinces. Moreover, the very fact that the Federal Government has committed billions of dollars to the St. Lawrence must limit the money it has for investment elsewhere.

Mr. St. Laurent is trying to judge these things sanely, from the standpoint of the national interest as a whole. That was proved, for example, in the last national election, when he rejected—no doubt at the cost of many seats on the Prairies—the construction of a great dam in Saskatchewan because he did not think it in the national interest. Presumably he will apply the same reasoning to Mr. Bennett's projects, realizing that they cannot be reckoned in isolation, that British Columbia cannot be treated as a special case to satisfy its people alone.

Unquestionably there are great merits in Mr. Bennett's plans—though some may well doubt the wisdom of extending the P.G.E. at this moment—but they are so large and costly that only Parliament, representing the whole nation, can accept, reject or modify them. For it is the nation, including the taxpayers of British Columbia, who would have to pay for them.

We need not expect, therefore, any snap decision on such a complex problem and, in any case, the decision must take account, not only of British Columbia's legitimate needs, but of the whole economic climate—the capacity of the taxpayers, the current wealth of the nation and the timing of public investment generally.

Jail for First Offense?

IN THE LAST THREE WEEKS nine motorists in Victoria and adjoining districts have been convicted on charges of driving while their abilities were impaired by alcohol.

Each has been fined—the amounts have been $200 or $250—and a recommendation has gone from the presiding magistrate to the superintendent of motor vehicles urging suspension of the driver's license. Those suspensions have been put into effect.

To a person of substantial means, the fines are unimportant. Withdrawal of driving privileges, on the other hand, is an impressive sanction, provided it is observed and provided the suspension is long enough.

According to the law as it now stands, conviction for a repetition of the offense carries with it a mandatory jail sentence of not less than 14 days. That, however, is sometimes escaped by a culprit if the trial judge is unaware of a previous conviction. In the event of a third conviction, the prison term is not less than three months.

In most instances one conviction is enough to check the motorist's inclination to drive after he has been drinking. But second offenses are not infrequent and the penalties applied do not appear strong enough to persuade other people to avoid driving while their abilities are impaired. That is proved by the fact that during the year to date 2,227 cases of that type have come before B.C. magistrates. Last year's full total was 1,748.

Under the circumstances, is the present law and its enforcement strict enough?

When a driver operates a car while his abilities are impaired he is handling a lethal weapon without the proper degree of responsibility. In his control is an instrument of potential death to himself and to others. The grisly toll on the highway provides its own commentary on that point.

The fact that so many motorists are not deterred by existing laws draws attention to the experience of Judge Eugene Lafontaine of Quebec. He has cracked down on speeders. First offenses on the Laurentian Highway and on other roads within his jurisdiction carry with them an automatic jail sentence. As he explains:

"I'm imposing jail sentences, fines . . . and lengthy license suspensions . . . My drive, admittedly, was carried out in a restricted area. Yet, if it succeeded here—and it has—there is no reason why it would not work in other parts of the country."

Perhaps the effective methods used by Judge Lafontaine against speeders might apply here in curbing that spirit of irresponsibility which sends a man out on the road in charge of a car when he is not in complete control of his faculties.

No Fakes, Please

RECENT COMPLAINTS THAT totem pole facsimilies made in Japan are being sold in Canadian stores to the detriment of the genuine, native-made article are not new. Long before the Second World War "Indian" baskets were being sold in Victoria shops, the product of Nipponese hands. But today there is a difference. Due to a change in the Customs Act, the imported articles now are not stamped with the name of the country of origin. The purchaser of a totem pole cannot tell, unless he be an expert in the craft, that the souvenir he is buying a fake, in that it is not a sample of Indian carving.

The native Indian origin of totem poles and similar objects is part and parcel of their intrinsic value, just as some essentially Japanese souvenir should be made in Japan to achieve authenticity. Any evasion of this requirement is in effect a fraud on the purchaser, unless he is warned that he is acquiring merely a copy of the real thing. This can only be done by stamping imported articles with the country of manufacture.

This, rather than prohibition of importation, is the answer to the problem. If we are to foster trade with other countries there should be no law against selling copies, but the genuine article should be protected, not only for the welfare of the Indian craftsmen but for the purchaser.

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I SEEM to be giving you plenty of recipes these days, what with mincemeat on Monday and Austrian shortbread last week. But the time has come to deal with turkey dressing, for a' that and a' that. Most people grumble like turkeys when asked to try anyone else's pet dressing. But you might do worse than try the one invented by Trader Vic's mother, as described in his Book of Food and Drink. It comes a little expensive, because you'll need three pounds of meat for a 25-pound bird. But you've spent so much on the bird anyhow, you'll be unable to feel the extra expense.

Brock

TAKE 2 lb. ground beef and 1 lb. ground pork, and fry lightly in 2 tablespoons of butter along with 4 stalks of celery and 2 large onions, both very finely chopped. Cook till meat is grey and crumbly. Soak a loaf of stale bread in 2 cups milk, mixing thoroughly with your hands, and add this to the meat and vegetable mixture. Beat 4 eggs well and add to mixture. Add 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning, salt and pepper to taste, and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Stuff bird lightly. This will stuff, as I say, a 25-lb. bird, so you might be able to cut down a little. If you can do arithmetic, I can't. Not in a kitchen, I mean, or over a cheque book, though I'm hot stuff at a darts board.

AS FOR meats to accompany a turkey on the outside rather than inside him, I am never sure which I like best, they are all so good . . . the traditional sausages, hot ham, cold ham. I have never dared ask, since wives are busy enough that day, but I have often wanted to try a small mixed grill along with my share of turkey. Blasphemy, perhaps. Yet if a sausage, why not the rest as well? I'll tell you what is very good with turkey, and with veal also, and that is hot boiled bacon.

Far from being plain and dull, boiled bacon is a dish fit for any gastronomic . . . either hot or cold. (It is odd how many of the simplest dishes are appreciated only by the highest and the lowest tastes . . . tripe, for example, or baked beans, or pea soup, or pease pudding.) As for the way hot boiled ham removes any possible dryness from the flavor of plain turkey . . . well, try it.

IF THE bacon is very salt, soak in warm water for an hour or two before boiling. Scrape the rind as clean as possible. Start in cold water, and skim while it comes to the boil. Simmer very gently for about 45 minutes to the pound. (Naturally, you are cooking it in the piece, not in rashers.) Before serving, strip off the skin. If you like, sprinkle a few bread raspings.

As for vegetables to go well with turkey, this was more of a problem in the days before frozen foods. Yet it still bothers me slightly. Even frozen green peas, while good, have never seemed perfect to me with turkey. Cauliflower has long been common with turkey, yet in my opinion it takes too much charge of the whole plate. How about frozen Lima beans? The children might hate that, though. All right, give them peas, then. Or finely cut frozen green beans. Not canned, not canned. Canned peas have done, in a pinch, but canned beans are murder. Green peas go very well in a casserole of leftover turkey, along with breadcrumbs, turkey soup, butter, a slight thickening of flour, and a dash of tomato sauce. A few mushrooms wouldn't be amiss, either.

WHILE talking turkey, do let me tell you, or tell your butcher, what Andre Simon says about a really massive tom-turkey, about 20 lb. or more, with sharp spurs. He says the man to stuff that bird is a taxidermist, not a cook. Try for a hen every time, for tenderness as well as for getting more meat per pound. She should have been reared in semi-liberty, and made to scratch for some of her food, though given plenty of extras at all times . . . food from the feed company, in a bag, is not a complete diet when it comes to flavor. Birds need weeds and they need insects. Her legs should be black, her neck short, her breast broad and plump, and her flesh snow-white. I feel the cook should look something like that too, all except for the black legs. None of your long thin scraggy cooks at Christmas, please.

I am now feeling good and hungry. Perhaps I had better go out and scratch for my food. And perhaps, for next year's Christmas card, I had better write an ode to a turkey . . . a female turkey, for it is to be a love poem.

LET'S GET THIS STRAIGHT

ACCORDING to "Atticus" of The Sunday Times, we can all join a club run by Lord Stanley of Alderley if we only promise to do one thing. In every letter we write to a Government department we should conclude with:

"You are, my dear sir,
My humble and obedient servant,
And I am," etc.

I should think we might use this reminder in letters to city departments as well. And to state-owned corporations, such as the CBC and the CNR.

"CAN I TAKE A BATH, MOM?"

From Our Files

Dec. 16, 1913: The site has long been purchased for a large G.T.P. hotel at the corner of Belleville and Government Streets. It was stated today that before long preparations may be well in hand for construction.

Dec. 16, 1933: The Grace liner Santa Lucia reached the Rithet Piers at noon today from New York via the Panama Canal. She met rough weather off Cape Flattery and fog and snow in the Straits.

As Our Readers See It

DISGUSTED

After citizens of Greater Victoria had exercised their supreme right under the constitution by voting, and had given a clear majority against the school by-law referendum, the chairman of the board was quoted in the press as saying he was disgusted. Would it be fair for the people of this community to expect the chairman to continue in that important office when he will be required to carry out their majority decisions and when he opposes them to the point of being disgusted?

I have a memory of fifty years in observing public affairs, including elections, federal, provincial and right down to the municipal level in eastern Canada, on the prairies and in British Columbia, but this is the first time I have ever heard or read of a public figure bluntly stating he was disgusted with the decision of the majority. It is a universal practice amounting to a tradition that our politicians say after a defeat, no matter how stinging: "The people have spoken. I accept their verdict." That seems to ring more truly with our democratic system.

JOHN POWER

WHAT KIND OF LAW?

What gives with our so-called laws and human dignity when the old crime of truant fathers and deserted children is allowed to continue?

Our laws are designed to protect business and property against theft and our laws automatically punish offenders with fines and jail terms. But the parent who robs his child of a proper chance in life gets off fairly easy, scot-free in most cases.

It's obvious that our laws uphold business and property before the law of humanity. And by continuing this farce of respect for such an inadequate law we don't show respect for our children and most certainly no genuine respect for our own dignity.

As long as these wishy-washy laws of family welfare continue then the crimes will continue.

What is being done, for a change, about the increasing crime that we can all see on any street in Canada?

HOCKEY AND THE ARENA

In reply to your correspondent G. S. Campbell, of McClure Street, I wish to point out to him that I have never in my life wore a pair of skates, least of all played hockey, but that does not mean I am not a close student of the game.

As to this arena here and what led to its construction, you know nothing. Mr. Patrick left this city some 25 years ago with his hockey interests. This city was without hockey until the war. Barney Olson was the man who was instrumental in bringing hockey back here. At that time the team representing Victoria reached the Allan Cup final.

After the war there was no hockey arena. Mr. Olson however offered to build an arena at his own expense if he was given certain privileges. I believe one of them was free taxation for ten years.

But, tut, tut, Mr. Campbell, the brains at the City Hall had a brain wave. They decided to build one themselves. It only cost the taxpayers of Victoria $1,250,000 and to add insult to injury the unfortunate taxpayers have no voice in its operation.

Every voter that voted for it, myself included, expected when completed that Mr. Olson would have been given the job of handling the hockey. But no, along comes dear old Lester to take over without the consent of the taxpayers.

No wonder the present mayor favors a Royal Commission to investigate the setup. It should have been held long, long ago.

JOHN TAYLOR

1330 Denman Street.

Editor's Note—After considerable discussion with the City Council, and after a report on potential returns from such an investment, Mr. Olson withdrew his offer to build an arena. In the operation of the present building, commissioners chosen by the elected representatives on the City Council represent the taxpayers.

ARE YOU LISTENING, MRS. NOGGINS?

"Let us now praise famous men." In Nov. 22nd Sunday Times (London), among the books advertised on the literary page is Bruce Hutchison's "Mackenzie King, The Incredible Canadian."

Of it the well known D. W. Brogan says: "It is the first of the very many merits of this brilliant book that it makes King's career exciting, momentous, and in some ways more mysterious than ever."

. . . "By one of the shrewdest, best known Canadian commentators," says the advertisement.

I hope Mrs. Noggins will duly appreciate the honor when next she talks with the VDT editor. I am looking forward to reading it.

NEWCOMER'S VIEW

A recent arrival in Canada (eighteen months) I have the greatest admiration for your Canadian statesmen such as Lester Pearson and think they are equal to any in the world, although Canada is a young nation. In the sphere of provincial and municipal politics I feel that British Columbians should hang their heads in shame. Lionel Shapiro writing in Maclean's recently after a visit to Britain said "North America may have the highest standard of living but Britain has the highest standard of life." Naturally it is not a good or popular thing for a newcomer to criticize the way of life of the country in which he lives, but there is a limit to everything.

During the summer I discussed with an American colonel, Bruce Hutchison's article "The Dangerous Luxury of Hating America." We both agreed that it was excellent and that it pointed out the faults on both sides. I mention this because as one who knows the good and bad points in the United States, I see clear signs in our local politics of an invasion of all that is worst in the U.S.A. Campaigns are conducted with innuendos, personal smears and family history.

I am a firm believer in politicians being judged on the policy and platform which they put forward and not on anything else. For example, during the war Mr. Amery was a respected Conservative member of Parliament while his son was a traitor broadcasting for the Nazis. He received nothing but sympathy from friends and political opponents. He was judged for himself and not his relatives. Yet recently an air force officer in the U.S.A. was fired (recently reinstated) because his sister was accused of being left wing.

This difference of approach in politics is what I advocate. North Americans, especially the decent people, view politics as something dirty, to be avoided. In Britain it is something to be proud of to serve the people. Let's demand that the rotteness and innuendos be taken out of our B.C. politics and refuse to vote even for members of one's own political party if they use it. "The price of liberty is eternal vigilance."

A Hopeful Proposition

BY WALTER LIPPMANN from Washington

THE President has found a way to bring the dread subject of atomic warfare within the range of serious discussion. He has done this—quite evidently—not as an exercise in psychological warfare but as a result of a serious re-examination of American policy.

The great virtue of the new proposal is not only that it is very attractive to all men of good will but that its sincerity cannot be disputed. Its sincerity is attested by the fact that the proposal reflects the enlightened self interest of the United States.

Lippmann

In a matter of such terrible consequence as the preparation for atomic warfare, it is worse than useless, it is very dangerous to trifle with Utopian self-denying and self-sacrificing schemes. They can cause only deep suspicion and distrust because no proposal by a government will be believed which might jeopardize its ultimate security.

The new American proposal does not pretend to limit or even to regulate atomic weapons. That is in its favor. It is healthy to give up the pretense that we think the Soviet Union would, or that we ourselves would, agree to international control and inspection of the topmost secret military operation. It was embarrassing to be involved in the pretense that the Congress would ratify or that the people would support a system of what would be denounced as licensed international espionage.

DIFFERENT POLICY

As long as we were entangled in such proposals, the public discussion of atomic issues could lead to nothing except ever greater fear and suspicion. For our real policy was bound to be different from our Utopian proposals. It was bound to be that far from disarming, we intended to improve our atomic armaments, relying upon them to maintain a balance of power between the enormous population of the Communist orbit and the limited population of the Atlantic community.

The new proposal abandons the pretense that the U.S. could or would renounce the mainstay of its military power. It proceeds, then—if I understand it rightly—from the fact that American production of fissionable material has become so big that there is a surplus beyond military requirements.

It is from this surplus that we are proposing to contribute materials for internatioinal development of the pacific uses of atomic energy. Since we have surplus, since we are not pretending that we are making a military sacrifice, there is no reason why the world should doubt the genuineness of the proposals.

Yet the scheme, if the Soviet Union is willing to accept it, might achieve some of what the old scheme of control and inspection was designed to do.

The willingness and the ability of the various nations to contribute surplus atomic material to an international agency, the rate of delivery and the continuity of it, might be indices of the volume of atomic production. This might do something to reduce the danger and the fear of surprise attack, in that the international agency might serve as a kind of early warning system.

The President's speech is organically related to the Bermuda conference, to the Paris meeting of NATO, and to the coming conference in Berlin.

If I am right in thinking that there is a general tide running towards a relaxation of the tension without settling conclusively any of the great issues, then this speech and the Bermuda communique are running with that tide.

The President's new proposal is that the tension of the atomic race should be lowered without attempting or pretending at this time to end the race. The Bermuda communique shows an agreement that though no settlement is reached to unify Germany and to fix an eastern frontier, or to roll back the iron curtain, the Western nations are ready to reduce the tension by saying again that they will not use force to settle these issues and to change the status quo.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

The Play's the Thing

WE'RE passing up school Christmas concerts this year. The kids aren't taking part. Our only participation in any of the programs is extremely vicarious. We have four wooden bowls in one scene, though I don't know what it is. Frankly, we can't get enough proprietory pride out of four wooden bowls to justify attendance and possibly rob two parents of seats from which to watch their child perform.

Stott

But, in memory, we love school Christmas concerts. They provide something no other dramatic form can produce. No matter how well rehearsed they are, some spontaneity breaks through. It rises triumphant to delight the audience and confound the coaches. Kids is kids, particularly in Christmas concerts.

You look back over the years of annual performances. In each some bright highlight still shines.

REMEMBERED ANGELS

You recall a concert when your moppet was an angel—one of many angels carefully costumed by harassed mothers wielding needles through stiffened cheesecloth long into the winter night. You remember the lump that came into your throat as she and her troupe came onto the stage, curtseying and then climbing to risers at the back of the stage for a choral number. You recollect the bright picture they made before the disturbance that occurred in the back row, right beside your own particular angel. And you call to mind the interrogation that followed the act.

"What happened to you and the girl next to you in the back row?"

"I punched her in the belly."

"Why?"

"She stepped on my foot."

Looking back, you're forced to admit there's nothing like a primary class angel with a good right hook to put punch into the Christmas concert.

You laugh again as another scene emerges from the past. In front of you was a row containing one complete family, grandparents, parents, aunts, uncles and one small boy, too young to attend school, but there to see an older brother appear on the stage.

You hear again the frank and unrestrained criticism of the little fellow as he commented, without inhibitions, on the numbers leading up to that of his brother's class. You can almost feel his excitement building up for the big event signalized by the older boy's arrival.

"Hey, Mum, there's David. Look Mum, his stocking's falling down. HI, DAVID."

You remember the Grade 8 drama, with the young husky in silk hose playing the male lead. You admire the conscientiousness with which he's learned his lines. You think, maybe, that silk hose don't do much for a pair of knobby knees, but you realize the hero's growing quickly—hasn't caught up with himself or the size of his feet.

You listen to the young baritone pouring out speech, with tension and excitement mounting, and you bless him for the quick break into a childish treble that relieved a pressure growing too severe.

SLIP SHOWING

You recall the invariable Santa Claus, a senior class boy whose pillow padding seemed always about to slip below his tunic as he shook like no bowl of jelly that ever was and laughed a "Ha, ha, ho, ho" that were fairly spelled out, so carefully were they phrased.

You remember the clear, sweet bell notes of young voices raised in carols old and familiar, rolling from wide-open mouths toward a teacher-conductor whose back obscured a big part of the stage, but who labored as no one else labored at such concerts.

You think of the times you've looked away from the stage to watch the audience. You've seen an inner glory on parental faces gazing on a child—the best in the entire cast. Each artist is the star in the eyes of those who look.

Somehow, it wouldn't be right to take up space merely to see four wooden bowls. We're missing a lot by passing up the concerts, but there are a lot of school Christmas concerts behind us.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Sympathetic Opthalmia

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

One of the most dreaded diseases seen by the ophthalmologist is sympathetic ophthalmia. What happens is that, occasionally, after one eye is inflamed or injured in an accident, the other eye will become so badly inflamed as to be largely destroyed. Fortunately, this occurs only occasionally, but the fact that it can occur, and then be so disastrous, makes it essential that many an injured eye be quickly removed. If one waits to be sure that it must be removed it may be too late to save the man's sight.

Dr. Alvarez

One of the disturbing facts about the disease is that the interval between the accident to the one eye and the destruction of the other can vary from two weeks to several years. Usually, the interval is somewhere between one and three months, with the greatest incidence during the second month. Usually, after three months have passed, there is not much danger, and there is practically no danger after a year.

The injured eye which gives the ophthalmologist most worry is the one which, after having received a penetrating wound involving the iris and one of the inner coats, goes on with a chronic low grade inflammation. The more prolonged this inflammation, the more danger there is to the other eye. Gradually, in the other eye, inflammation may appear around the iris and from there it may spread and become chronic. Usually then the vision quickly begins to fail. Fortunately, treatment if quickly started and well directed can some times check the progress of the inflammation before vision is totally destroyed, but the person is likely to remain in danger for nine or 10 months.

HARD ON MECHANICS

One of the things which must never be done is to leave a chip of metal in an eye. Incidentally, no man who works in a shop in which chips of iron can fly about should ever work without protective goggles. He is just asking for serious trouble. Even the destruction of one eye may ruin a man's usefulness as an expert mechanic. No longer, then, can he estimate distances as he used to do.

Certain it is that anyone who receives an injury to one eye, or who gets a serious inflammation in one eye, should immediately put himself under the watchful care of the best ophthalmologist he can find.

EXCESSIVE CHOLESTEROL

Many lay persons are learning today that a person with an excessive amount of cholesterol in the blood, and especially with a bad family record of several relatives who died early with coronary heart disease, has a right to be a bit uneasy. Especially if he is stout and eating too much, and especially if he has diabetes, he ought to be under the care of a physician who can, perhaps, help him with a fat-poor diet.

In a recent number of the American Heart Journal, Dr. L. E. Schaefer and colleagues reported a study of the serum cholesterol level in 250 men and 250 women seen in Mt. Sinai Hospital, in New York City. The diagnosis of hypercholesteremia was made when the cholesterol level exceeded 279 mg. per 100 ml. of serum. Actually, on the basis of these figures, 41 of the men and 56 of the women had an excessive amount of cholesterol, which is a fat-like substance, and one which appears to have something to do with producing ulcers in the smaller arteries. As was expected, a study of 97 brothers and sisters of persons with hypercholesteremia, and of 110 of their children, all of whom seemed healthy enough, showed hypercholesteremia. This appeared in 51.5 per cent of the brothers and sisters, and in 29.4 per cent of the children.

Although the going on a low-fat diet seldom has much influence on the amount of total cholesterol in the blood, it can have an influence on longevity if the person is overweight. We know that overweight persons have a greater tendency to get serious disease of the arteries than have the thin.

Most physicians and some laymen know that statistics now indicate that even more important than the total cholesterol in the blood is the cholesterol which is found in certain large molecules. As a result, today many physicians are sending their patient's blood for examination in powerful centrifuges. A non-profit organization which carries out these tests for physicians is called the Institute of Medical Physics, and is located at 1030 Sixth Avenue, Belmont, California. Patients desiring this test should not write to me but should ask their physician to write the institute, and get a special container in which to send a sample of blood.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Search Abandoned Second Time For Missing Ambulance Plane

EDMONTON (BUP) — The search for an ambulance plane missing in northern Alberta was abandoned for the second time today after a methodical search of the area 100 miles northwest of here failed to turn up any new clues.

A set of frozen footprints revived the search Tuesday, but two Norsemen planes sweeping over the Mayerthorpe area found no trace of the plane carrying three men.

The renewed search was fired off by a farmer who reported sighting a plane flying at treetop level the night the missing plane vanished.

The craft disappeared Nov. 22 carrying pilot Gordon Macdonald of Edmonton, Dr. Donald Wilson of Grande Prairie and seriously-ill polio patient Lloyd Williams of Edmonton. Williams was being flown from Grande Prairie for emergency treatment.

Searchmaster FO Ed Southall and Flt. Lieut. Dave Beachamp questioned the farmer Tuesday night, who said his son had seen flares in the dense forest area.

The farmer's son led a search party into the bush, where they found footprints of one man, who appeared to be wandering aimlessly in the bush.

The party lost track of the prints when darkness fell.

RECORD OIL PRODUCTION

EDMONTON (CP)—Oil production at the Imperial Oil Ltd. refinery at Norman Wells, Northwest Territories, reached a record volume of 365,000 barrels of processed crude this year, Murray Mackenzie, superintendent, said Tuesday.

The crude was marketed to river navigation services, mining fields and other northern operations.

The plant, which employs a staff of 90 persons at peak periods, has suspended operations briefly, but will continue production about Jan. 15, Mackenzie said.

TEACHERS GET RAISE

WINNIPEG (BUP) — The Winnipeg school board today approved a new salary schedule which will give nearly all city school teachers a flat $400 yearly wage increase in 1954.

The new pay increase boosted the teachers' salary bill by $558,000, raising the total operating costs of the school board to $8,500,000.

CHRISTMAS INDUSTRY

REGINA (CP) — With used flash bulbs, firewood, silver foil and old nylon stockings, bright-eyed youngsters and grown-ups at a youth centre here are turning out original and attractive Christmas gifts and decorations.

Persons of all ages have found they can have a lot of fun making their own gifts and ornaments.

Ordinary sticks of firewood become Yule logs when they are covered with plaster of paris. Spaces are left for candles with the log trimmed and pine cones and miniature Christmas trees.

Christmas flowers, miniature Santas and animals are made from chenille.

A bit of crepe paper, an old newspaper and some metal foil becomes a Christmas wreath, or a tree or room decoration.

Used flash bulbs and old golf balls, dressed up with paint become colorful and effective ornaments.

Hundreds of items are turned out in the centre's craft room each week—figurines, plaques, bookends, pictures painted on glass and flowers.

In the advanced craft room, hobbyists put the finishing touches to larger and more intricate work: leather golf club bags, designs on copper and aluminium, lawn ornaments and pieces of furniture.

GROWING CITY

SASKATOON (CP) — The latest estimate of Saskatoon's population is 60,000 according to the post office and city tax collector. The official 1951 census figure was 53,268.

Adanac Mine Tipple Destroyed by Fire

BELLEVUE, Alta. (CP)—The Adanac mine tipple in this Crow's Nest Pass district was destroyed by fire Tuesday night, idling about 80 men. There was no estimate of damage.

The U.S. mint began making coins for foreign governments in January, 1874. The first customer was Venezuela.

DUCHESS HAS FINAL SAY

Wins Divorce From Duke Who Tried to Evict Her

EDINBURGH (CP)—A duchess whose duke went to court in a vain effort to have her evicted from the ducal castle, today won a divorce on grounds of adultery.

The Duchess of Roxburgh, 40, was granted a decree against the duke, Georges Innes-Ker, 42, one of Scotland's biggest titled land owners.

The family quarrel first broke into the headlines last January when the duke sued to have his wife evicted from the ducal seat, Floors Castle, near Jedburgh in southern Scotland.

He brought action under Scottish common law which lays down that a wife lives in her husband's house only "by license." The duchess finally walked out.

The duchess, descendant of the Rothschilds, famous family of international financiers, became the youngest duchess in England when she married the duke in 1935 at the age of 20.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE RECORD TO DATE, 1953—1,923.8 HOURS

SYNOPSIS — The ridge of high pressure which has protected the province from storm activity for the last few days now is retreating eastward to the prairies. The large weather disturbance offshore has extended over the north coast where it will cause strong southeast winds and intermittent rain today and Thursday.

Weakened by its enforced sojourn just offshore the disturbance will have only a minor effect on other parts of the province. Thickening cloud will spread to the eastern boundary of B.C. by Thursday afternoon. There is some chance of a few showers on the south coast Thursday. Temperatures will remain mild in coastal regions but it will be cold again tonight in the northern Cariboo and the east Kootenays.

DOMINION PUBLIC WEATHER OFFICE 8 A.M. FORECASTS

Forecasts valid until midnight Thursday.

VICTORIA—Cloudy with sunny periods Thursday. A few light showers early Thursday morning. Little change in temperature. Winds easterly 15 Thursday. Low-high, 40 and 48.

WEST COAST—Cloudy Thursday. A few showers overnight and Thursday. Little change in temperature. Winds southeast 15, frequently 25 in exposed areas. Low-high at Estevan Point, 40 and 50.

VANCOUVER, GEORGIA STRAIT — Cloudy with a few sunny periods Thursday. Scattered light showers early Thursday morning. Little change in temperature. Winds light except southeast 15 in Georgia Strait tonight and Thursday. Low-high at Vancouver airport and Nanaimo, 36 and 48.

Some 400 Divorce Cases Before Senate

OTTAWA (BUP)—Some 400 divorce applications from Quebec and Newfoundland will have to be dealt with by the Senate during the current session of Parliament, Sen. W. M. Aseltine (PC, Saskatchewan) said Tuesday.

Aseltine said 334 applications had already been filed and 50 or 60 more would be received in the eight days left before the deadline for receiving them. So far, he said, the committee had dealt with 142 cases and seven had been withdrawn.

Island Jaycees Pledge Will Help Lagging Red Cross Blood Campaign

The Red Cross appeal for 350 pints of blood daily fell 57 pints short on Tuesday.

The blood serves two purposes now. As a source of gamma globulin, used as a polio preventative, blood stocks are subjected to a greater demand than ever before.

"Hospitals have barely enough for normal committments," Jubilee administrator George Masters said today.

Increased number of traffic accidents at Christmas always puts a severe strain on existing supplies. Officials say that if extra blood is to be collected for polio prevention, at least 15,000 additional donors are needed this year.

The clinic is open today and Thursday at Red Cross House, 1.30 to 4.30 and 7 to 9 p.m. Friday it moves to the Parliament Buildings.

Meanwhile four Island Junior Chambers of Commerce have pledged their support to the blood drive.

Victoria, Nanaimo, Port Alberni and Duncan clubs met Sunday to arrange an inter-club competition. Victoria Jaycees will turn out Thursday at 8 p.m. for a mass transfusion.

S. J. WILLIS HIGH BAND PLAYS FOR BEDRIDDEN AUDIENCES

S. J. Willis Junior High School Band, directed by Howard Denike, has begun a program of Christmas concerts for persons confined to their beds, or otherwise unable to enjoy a large part of Christmas festivities.

Trimmed from its regular 53 pieces down to 30, the band played Tuesday night at the Mount View Home in Oak Bay.

It will play a concert tonight at the Veterans' Hospital, starting at 7.30, and Thursday afternoon at 3.30 at the Aged Women's Home.

On Tuesday at 2 p.m. the boys and girls of the band will give a concert at Mount St. Mary's.

SEAWAY WILL AID B.C. LUMBER TRADE

TORONTO (CP)—The St. Lawrence seaway will give Canada's lumber trade "an entirely new outlook," Col. J. Jenkins, head of the federal government's forest products laboratories at Ottawa and Vancouver, said in Vancouver.

He said rail transportation costs from the West Coast to Ontario are three times the water rates from Vancouver to England. The seaway would make it economically possible to ship lumber products from the west through the Panama Canal to Great Lakes ports.

Councillors Known-to Favor Scheme Advocated by Lake Hill Intsitute

A plan to extend services of the Victoria Order of Nurses into Saanich municipality has been endorsed by the municipal health committee and will be submitted for approval of the council next month, it was learned today.

The plan, prepared by the Lake Hill Women's Institute, calls for a municipal grant of $3,000 to cover general cost. Another $2,700 for a car would be raised by public subscriptions and fees collected for the service.

Clr. Roy Wootten, chairman of the health committee, said the plan will be submitted to the council after the New Year.

Commenting on the committee's decision, Mrs. A. S. Moffat, 3730 Savannah Avenue, said the plan represented three years' work on the part of the Lake Hill Women's Institute.

"This plan was shoved about by the council," she said. "It seems as if it will finally be accepted. A bedside service is badly needed in the municipality."

The extension of the Victorian Order of Nurses' service into Saanich became an issue in the recent municipal elections. S. W. Brock and Robert Fleming, two candidates who were elected as councillors for a two-year term and a one-year term, respectively, promised to see that the service was brought into Saanich.

Six Reported Killed in Iraq Strike Clashes

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—The Iraqi oil port of Basra lay under martial law today following a clash between police and striking workers of the Basra Petroleum Co. in which six persons were reported killed.

The casualty reports, which were not confirmed, said 33 other persons, including some police, were injured in the fray.

The strikers, out since Dec. 5, have made 17 demands on the company, including higher wages and improved living conditions.

The company is an affiliate of the Iraq Petroleum Co., which is jointly owned by American, British, French and Dutch oil companies.

HMCS Thunder Joins Canadian 'Sweepers

MONTREAL (BUP) — Another Canadian navy minesweeper was added to Canada's growing NATO force Tuesday at the Canadian-Vickers shipyard.

HMCS Thunder was officially turned over to naval authorities and is scheduled to sail for Halifax within the next few days.

Officials said the Thunder was one of the first three such minesweepers being turned out in Canada. A total of 14 minesweepers will be built.

The new vessel is fully equipped with the latest detecting devices, including many which are still on the secret list.

East German Chief Wants Bid To Big 4 Talks

Add Both Zones Ulbrecht Suggests

BERLIN (AP)—The Russian zone proposed today that the rival governments of divided Germany be given seats at the forthcoming Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Berlin.

Acting Prime Minister Walter Ulbrecht made the bid at a special session of the East German Parliament. The veteran Communist spokesman for the Kremlin declared that the parley should deal with two points:

1. Conclusion of a German peace treaty.

2. Re-establishment of German unity "on a democratic and peaceful basis."

Officials of the Soviet high commission were present as Ulbricht spoke. Presumably they approved Uubricht's statements.

The Western powers have never recognized the Communist East German state, nor dealt with any of its officials except through West German channels.

Ulbricht spoke as though the Big Four meeting is certain to be held in Berlin, but he carefully avoided any reference to the date. The West suggested Jan. 4 but the Kremlin has not yet replied.

Endicott Advances Korea Peace Proposal

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. James Endicott, chairman of the Communist - dominated Canadian Peace Congress, Tuesday urged that Canada support the idea of a round-table peace conference on Korea, including neutral nations.

In a telegram to Prime Minister St. Laurent at Ottawa, Dr. Endicott criticized U.S. negotiator Arthur Dean for a "walkout" at the Panmunjom peace negotiations and said the UN General Assembly should be reconvened if necessary to achieve a round-table conference.

TO RESUME EIGHT-YEAR BATTLE

Appeal Court Rules Kuzych Must Pay $14,000 Costs

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Court of Appeal ruled Tuesday that Myron Kuzych, 41-year-old welder, must pay $14,000 in court costs before he can continue his eight-year legal battle for reinstatement in the Boilermakers' Industrial Union Local No. 1 (CCL).

The ruling upheld Mr. Justice J. M. Coady's judgment in Supreme Court September 10, in which Kuzych was required to pay the bill of costs taxed against him by officers of the union.

The account against the welder, who was expelled in 1945 because he opposed the union's closed shop principles, includes the expense of the union's appeal to the Privy Council in London two years ago. At that time the high tribunal reversed the decision of two B.C. courts that Kuzych had been unlawfully expelled.

Kuzych, who was once awarded $5,000 damages only to have it set aside by a higher court, seeks in his latest action to regain his union card, which is a condition precedent for employment as a welder.

He twice took his case to the Privy Council, but each time he lost.

Kuzych received the appeal court's ruling with the statement:

"I do not propose to stop now. Instead, I intend to proceed at once to raise the necessary money and go on fighting."

Although the latest suit names William L. White, William Stewart and other union officials as co-defendants, Kuzych contends that his fight is not against his fellow unionists, but against the executive who he alleges are "Stalinists of fellow-travelers of Communism."

Guiana Governor Bans Three Lefist Groups

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—The British governor of this troubled colony outlawed three left-wing organizations Tuesday night and banned several Communist publications, including the magazine Soviet Weekly and the periodical put out by the Cominform.

SUCCEEDS OWEN

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York football Giants Tuesday named Jim Lee Howell, star player and assistant coach under Steve Owen, to succeed Owen as head coach of the National Football League team. Owen announced his retirement from coaching last week and will head up the club's scouting system.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The recent ruckus over goalie Jacques Marcotte of the Quebec Citadelles resulted in some interesting comments and opinions from an Ontario jurist who ruled on one aspect of the case.

(Marcotte, it may be recalled, was originally the property of the Citadelles, went to the Quebec Frontenacs early this year, was ordered returned to the Citadelles by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, and faced suspension by the Queen Hockey Association, along with the Frontenacs, if he rejoined them. Tuesday, he became property of the Frontenacs once again, the Citadelles' club having been purchased by the Frontenacs.)

The judge, W. B. Scott, was ruling on a petition for a court order that would have restrained the QAHA from suspending the Frontenacs for using Marcotte. In denying the petition he asked a number of embarrassing questions, similar no doubt to those asked at the recent baseball probe by the U.S. Supreme Court:

Walker

He severely indicted hockey's reserve clause and the use of the word "amateur."

"Are the days of slavery back with us?" he asked of a Citadelle contention that Marcotte was their "property."

"How a human being can be the property of a corporation is something that passes my comprehension," he commented.

The judge did, however, uphold the QAHA and CAHA regulations, but on the matter of property or ownership he had the following comments:

"So these regulations say a boy of 18 belongs to anybody. Has slavery come back to us? Can an incorporated club do what was done in the days of Rome?" He doubted a person of any age can be a "slave of any organization."

On the question of amateurism, the jurist said:

"The CAHA has the nerve to call itself amateur."

The contention of the attorney for the Citadelles that "if we are not professional, then we are amateur," was in reply to a question by the judge concerning the definition of an amateur according to the CAHA.

"What light does that throw on anything?" the judge asked.

The jurist also pointed out that, although the "CAHA doesn't recognize salaries," the evidence submitted showed Marcotte got $60 a week for playing junior B hockey last year.

"Here is the CAHA and QAHA calling themselves amateur," he said.

In hockey's defense the Citadelles' counsel pointed out that the regulations were not all slavery. Clubs invest considerable money in developing players and therefore need some protection.

"That doesn't mean you can control a player's future," said the jurist.

But despite this learned opinion, the reserve clause is likely to remain one of the basic parts of the CAHA constitution, and not the CAHA in particular, but all hockey in general.

Like the reserve clause in baseball, though some say "not as rigid," it is here to stay. It's the one major protection the clubs have. How else could their financial interests be protected?

That's the basic question that nobody, not even the U.S. Supreme Court, in permitting the reserve clause to remain in baseball, can answer.

Already CBC engineers have been studying the angles of Vancouver Forum with regard to television of hockey, lacrosse and other sports in the future . . . needless to say they have found the Forum puzzling as have the Cougars . . . hoop fans may be interested to learn that four of the U of W basketball games will be televised after the New Year . . . Johnny Clark of the Kins shouldn't need to worry too much about being moved to forward. . . . It's what the big fellow wanted a few years ago and his scoring isn't likely to suffer as a result. . . . Matter of fact it has been considered in some quarters, and that includes this corner, that big John would be more valuable in this position. . . . Look what the pros did to the Huskies' All-American Bob Houbregs . . . he of hook-shot fame has had to make the switch to a wing berth, incredible as his foes of college days would likely deem possible. . . . Now instead of making the plays himself, Bob will have the plays made to order for his "hook." . . . And don't doubt that Clark can hit from the outside. . . . He can. . . .

Two Reasons Why Television Is Booming

Pioneers of radio would probably twitch in their graves tonight if they could see what monsters their ingenuity has let loose upon the unsuspecting world. The likes of Brian O'Brian, left, and Ted Reynolds, announcers by trade, will display their physical inneptitude tonight when they and other members of the Radio All-Stars meet the Press All-Stars in a charity basketball game at Victoria High School at 8. O'Brian, eight feet tall in his mukluks, will play goal for the Radio squad while the homicidal Reynolds has vowed to see if reporters really do have ink in their blood. (Times photo.)

Cougars Roll Over For Canucks Again

Quakers Blank Stamps

Vancouver 3, Victoria 1
Saskatoon 5, Calgary 0

As bad as Vancouver Canucks have been in their recent seven-game losing streak, they were still good enough to extend their hex over the Victoria Cougars in Vancouver Tuesday night.

The Canucks climbed back into a tie for first place in the Western Hockey League by defeating Cougars, 3-1.

The victory, together with the 5-0 blanking administered to Calgary Stampeders by Saskatoon Quakers, allowed Art Chapman's Canucks to share first place with the Stamps.

The Cougars, who have been unable to pick up two points in Vancouver since October of 1951, saw their fifth-place standing jeopardized as the loss kept their lead over Seattle Bombers to a single point.

Canucks took a 1-0 lead in the first period but Cougars, playing short-handed on defense, with Ross Lowe on the injured list and Tony Schneider disabled, came back to tie it at 1-1 in the second period. However, that was Cougars' last gasp as Vancouver scored twice in the final frame, the last goal being scored on an empty net as Cougars pulled goalie Ralph Almas in the final minute of play in an effort to get the equalizer.

IRON MEN

Defensemen Walt Clune and Sam Lavitt turned in iron-man shifts, playing almost the entire game without a break as they were the only two members of the blue-line contingent in top physical shape. Lowe did not dress and Schneider, still nursing a bruised back, dressed but was used only sparingly.

Vancouver goalie Lorne Worsley and Almas took turns electrifying the crowd with their sensational work in the wide open game. Clune also played well in a 59-minute performance.

Canucks took the lead at 2.36 of the first period when Larry Popein stole the puck in the Cougar end and worked in close to beat Almas.

Ed Dorohoy, set up by Sam Bettio, tied it up at 14.06 of the second period, but George Homenuke scored from Popein and Fred Brown at 8.46 of the third period to put Canucks ahead and Popein blasted the puck into the open net to clinch it at 19.46.

FOURTH SHUTOUT

In Saskatoon, 4,000 saw Quaker goalie Chuck Rayner hang up his fourth shutout of the season. Rayner, handling only 17 shots, had an easy time compared to Calgary's Bill Brennan, who made 36 saves, 15 in the last period.

Quakers vaulted into third place with the victory, surpassing New Westminster.

The loss was doubly injurious to the Stamps as they had three players hurt.

Bill Shvetz suffered torn shoulder ligaments and may be out for two or three games, while Frank Ashworth was cut about the face during a collision with Lou Fontinato, and Pat Lundy was badly bruised when crashed into a goal-post.

SATTERFIELD TO TEST WALLS IN CHICAGO BOUT

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Satterfield, Chicago heavyweight, has earned a Jan. 13 Chicago Stadium match against Earl Walls of Edmonton and Toronto, the Canadian heavyweight champion, off his performance Tuesday night.

Satterfield, 184, knocked out Ray Augustus, Topeka, Kans., 176, in the last round of their scheduled eight-round feature bout. Heavy right-hand smashes floored the Kansan twice in the final round and he was unable to rise after the second knockdown.

Satterfield is making a comeback after an in-and-out eight-year career, mostly as a light heavyweight.

GARRIOTT OFFERED CONTRACT

Tyees Lower Baseball Price

Professional baseball will cost less in Victoria next year. Victoria Baseball and Athletic Company officials made this decision Tuesday as a means of securing additional support from the public while offering Cec Garriott a contract as manager for 1954.

The new prices will be 90 cents for general admission, $1.25 for box seats and 50 cents for bleachers. Children and students will be charged 10 cents for bleacher seats, 35 cents in the grandstand.

Season's box seats will sell for $75, reserved seats for $55 and general admission $45.

Tickets will also be offered in book form, six for $5, and may be secured from general manager Reg Patterson at B 1075 as Christmas gifts.

In regard to the managerial situation, general manager Reg Patterson said:

"We did not decide to let Garriott go. We have offered him a contract—the same as he received in 1952," his first year as manager. Terms of the 1952 contract were announced at that time as being $6,000 for the season.

Earlier this week Patterson intimated that he didn't think Garriott would accept this offer as it was a reduction from last year, Garriott having received a salary increase for 1953 after leading the Tyees to the WIL pennant in 1952.

Patterson will discuss the matter with Garriott by telephone tonight at which time a decision is expected to be made one way or the other.

Wenatchee Assured of WIL Entry

WENATCHEE, Wash (UP)—Bob Tyler, president of the Wenatchee Chiefs of the Western International Baseball League, said today Wenatchee fans had raised $14,200 to insure the club's entry in the league in 1954.

Tyler said he would notify league president Robert Abel of Tacoma that the fund-raising drive would continue in an effort to top the $18,000 mark. Abel had given Wenatchee until Tuesday to establish proof of sufficient fan interest to carry the club through next year.

Tyler also said the Wenatchee club had renewed its working agreement with the Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast League for 1954.

Pep Easy Victor

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Willie Pep, former featherweight champion from Hartford, Conn., Tuesday night won every round in scoring an easy decision over Tony Longo of Baltimore in the 10-round feature bout at the auditorium.

Pep weighed 129, Longo 130.

LOS ANGELES—Cisco Andrade, 135, Los Angeles, outpointed Bobby Woods, 134¾, Spokane, Wash. (10).

TOLEDO, O.—Pedro Gonzales, 164, Pittsburgh, outpointed King Solomon, 164, Chicago (10).

International Racing Swindle Bared in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UP)—Immigration authorities today announced the arrests of nine Americans, two Canadians and a Briton as suspects in an international racetrack swindle which cost gullible tourists at least $50,000.

Chief Inspector Demetrio Fagoaga said three of the Americans and the Britisher will be tried on charges of swindling winter tourists out of money they bet on horse races which the ring said were "fixed." The other eight, including three women, will be deported immediately.

Fagoaga said the suspects were arrested in two groups, on Nov. 14 and Nov. 24, by police who found more than $50,000 in their possession. The inspector said the arrests had been kept secret until now in an effort to trap "one or two others" who still are at large.

The arrests climaxed an investigation of swindling operations in the United States, Britain, France and half a dozen other countries in Europe and Latin America.

FBI INTERESTED

Fagoaga said the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation still is investigating alleged contacts of the ring in Miami Beach, only American city where the swindlers are known to have operated.

"They were an extremely itinerant bunch," he said. "They worked racetrack swindles all over the world, and were constantly on the move."

In Mexico City, he said, they worked a circuit of downtown hotels, where they spotted "winter tourists, who usually have more money than other visitors."

"The victims didn't have a chance," Fagoaga added. "If they lost they could not complain because they would be prosecuted for entering into a definitely crooked deal."

The inspector said the ring got $18,000 from one victim and $17,000 from another, while "an American by the name of Herman barely missed being taken for $50,000."

He said the authorities here have no home addresses for the suspects and know them only by their "latest aliases," which may or may not be their real names.

Fagoaga said the four slated for trial are known here as Joseph T. Grimes, John Moore and George L. Carter, Americans, and Jack S. Davis, British.

Harvey To Appeal $75 Fine

MONTREAL (CP) — Defenseman Doug Harvey of Montreal Canadiens intends to appeal a $75 fine imposed on him after a National Hockey League game in Detroit Sunday night, it was learned here today.

Harvey, on an exhibition tour in Ontario with the Canadiens, likely will request an interview with NHL president Clarence Campbell when the club returns home.

He was handed a game misconduct penalty, including the $75 fine, after the final siren sounded while Maurice Rocket Richard and Glen Skov of the Red Wings were engaged in a minor brawl. He apparently said something that burned referee Bill Chadwick's ears.

Harvey is reported to have said after the game that he will refuse to pay the fine, claiming the penalty was unwarranted as Chadwick misinterpreted remarks directed at another player.

Davis Cup Semifinal Draw Set

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Top-ranking aces Tony Trabert and Philippe Washer of the United States and Belgium meet Thursday in the opening singles match of the Davis Cup interzone tennis final.

Washer, Belgium's hope of making a good fight, said he definitely will play despite a sprained muscle in his right shoulder.

The first match will be followed by a second singles joust involving the American Wimbledon titleholder, Vic Seixas, and Belgium's 23-year-old Jacques Brichant.

Washer's untimely injury makes the U.S. an even heavier favorite to score a 5-0 sweep into the challenge round against Australia Dec. 28-30 at Melbourne.

The intense heat and humidity has been almost unbearable here, with temperatures approaching 100 degrees. Official tennis balls are kept in an ice box at courtside.

Conn Sold To Bombers

SEATTLE, Wash. (BUP)—Officials of the Seattle Bombers of the Western Hockey League Tuesday announced the conditional purchase of Joe Conn from the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League.

Conn has seen only sporadic action this year with Victoria Cougars where he has been playing on option from the Montreal Canadiens, who, in turn, had him on loan from Cleveland.

Conn played for Seattle in 1951-52 and 1952-53.

MEETS COLEY WALLACE

Ez at Crossroads Of Career Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (BUP)—Ezzard Charles, an "old man" of 32, reaches the crossroads of his pugilistic career tonight as he takes on the fast-rising young star of the movies, Coley Wallace, in a 10-round nationally-televised fight.

While he has given no indication that he will retire if he is beaten, Charles can't keep on going down the line much further than this. He has lost his last two outings to first-ranked Nino Valdes and light-heavyweight challenger Harold Johnson.

Wallace is ninth-ranked in the heavyweight ratings—with a great record. He has won 22 out of 24 bouts and of these 15 have been via the knockout route.

But former world's heavyweight champion Charles is rated a 2-1 favorite to get back into the fistic limelight.

Barons Threat To AHL Leaders

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—Cleveland Barons made it eight victories in nine starts by trimming Pittsburgh Hornets 7-2 in an American Hockey League game Tuesday night.

The victory put the Barons, who were fifth in the league three weeks ago, only two points short of first place Buffalo.

FIRST TEST OKAY

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Santa Anita's new $250,000 grass racing strip got its first official test Tuesday. Everyone, including the horses, seemed satisfied.

Baseball Mourns Death Of Yanks' Ed Barrow

PORTCHESTER, N.Y. (UP)—All baseball was in mourning today for Edward Grant Barrow, the man who discovered Honus Wagner, converted Babe Ruth into an outfielder and built the New York Yankees into the game's greatest dynasty.

The bushy-browed, 85-year-old Barrow died of a "malignancy" at Portchester United Hospital at 8.35 p.m. (EST) last night. His wife, Frances, and his personal physician were at his bedside when the end came.

Barrow's body will lie at Campbell's Funeral Home in New York, the same place Ruth's body lay after his death in 1948. Burial arrangements will be announced later today.

Beloved and respected by all who knew him, Barrow was general manager of the Yankees from 1920 to 1947, during which period the team won 14 American League championships and 10 World Series titles. Such Yankee greats as Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri, Herb Pennock, Charlie Ruffing, Bill Dickey and Lefty Gomez always were Barrow's responsibility at contract-signing time.

Known as "Uncle Egbert" to his many friends, Barrow was born in a covered wagon at Springfield, Ill., May 10, 1868, and entered baseball by buying into a West Virginia team in 1895 after brief flings as a newspaperman and an executive for a soap company.

Following his retirement from the Yankees in 1947, he was offered the job as commissioner of baseball but turned it down because he felt he was too old.

He retired to his home in Rye, N.Y., but insisted his "heart would always be with the Yankees."

Barrow entered the hospital July 27 and although he rallied from time to time, he never improved sufficiently to return home.

Wests Meet Dockers In Soccer Feature

All six teams in the Victoria and District Football Association will be in action during the week-end.

Second-place Victoria West will endeavor to reduce the gap between themselves and leading Esquimalt club when they meet the Dockers at Athletic Park Saturday afternoon.

Dockers are heading the parade with 15 points. Wests are five points behind.

Two games are billed for Sunday afternoon. Canadian Scottish and Heaneys meet at Heywood Avenue and Civil Service oppose Wood-Motors at Bullen Park.

All games start at 2.15.

Scottish and Servants are presently locked in a two-way tie for third place with nine points apiece. Heaneys are fourth with six points, the motormen bringing up the rear with three points.

Archie Moore To Meet Maxim Again

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Archie Moore, light-heavyweight champion of the world, Tuesday signed to defend his title against Joey Maxim at Miami Stadium Jan. 27.

This will be the third meeting of the pair, with Moore holding two decisions over the Cleveland fighter.

The bout will be televised under the promotion of Major W. H. Peepless Jr. and the International Boxing Club.

Royals Blank Cubs

Royals blanked Cubs 1-0, recently in a bantam "B" division minor hockey league game at Memorial Arena.

The lone goal was scored by R. Campbell, assisted by K. Stewart.

YANKS IN NEWS, TOO By GAYLE TALBOT

Wrestling Goes Pure

NEW YORK (AP) — If wrestling is a dead sport, as some claim, it must be about the liveliest corpse kicking around these days. Fred Kohler, the big Chicago promoter, has grossed more than $350,000 this year at his two arenas, not counting the money from TV sponsors.

Kohler has virtually banished the low comedy routines which were popular for a number of years in favor of "scientific" wrestling. They claim you can see the difference.

Baseball men we have talked with feel without exception that Washington got all the better of the deal through which Jackie Jensen went to the Boston Red Sox for pitcher Mickey McDermott and outfielder Tom Umphlett.

They say Jensen, the former football hero, will not give the Sox the righthanded power they were seeking to go with their extra-short left-field fence. Such power as Jackie has, they say, is to dead centre. Other clubs, including Cleveland, claimed to have passed up chances to land the powerful young blond who broke in with the Yankees along with Mickey Mantle.

The Yankees must be doing some tall thinking about having to carry their bonus phenom, Frank Leja, for two seasons since the storied young first baseman proved such a monumental flop in the Puerto Rican winter league. The kid who is supposed to hit nothing but homers struck out seven of his first eight times up and went hitless his first 21 trips before they sent him home.

Another story from Puerto Rico, not verified, says that Jim Rivera of the Chicago White Sox gave Mickey Owen, manager of the Caguas club, a going over in the locker room when Mickey tried to bawl him out for not obeying a signal.

Bomber Coach Jovial But Silent on Return

WINNIPEG (CP) — Some of George Trafton's players, at least they called him boss last season, were at the airport to greet the Winnipeg Blue Bomber coach Tuesday night when he returned from a visit to Chicago.

After hugging his wife and shaking hands with the Blue Bomber team members, Trafton faced a barrage of questions by reporters. He was jovial but he wasn't saying much.

Asked when he was going to talk to the football club, Trafton said that was a job for his lawyer, Hart S. Green.

"Mr. Green is my lawyer and he's doing everything for me now," he said. "If I'm going to pay him, I'll let him talk for me, too."

Trafton reported last Friday that he had been fired as coach of the Western Interprovincial Football Union champions, with one year to go on a three-year contract.

This was denied the same day by the football club, although president Karl Slocomb said Bombers would be hiring a new man as "head coach" in 1954. Trafton, he said, had been hired as "a coach" and was still on the payroll as "a coach."

Players on hand to greet the coach were tackle Dick Huffman, ends Neill Armstrong and Tom Lumsden, guards Jimmy McPherson and Al Wiley and halfback Len Meltzer."

Smythe Scores 'Germ' Warfare

TORONTO (BUP)—Conn Smythe, an old soldier, admitted today he was losing a battle and couldn't do anything about it.

Smythe said a "propaganda" and "germ warfare" campaign was being waged in the National Hockey League against his Toronto Maple Leafs to such an extent that "referees now are looking at the team all the time."

"We're being out-propagandaed," Smythe howled. "They've tried every tactic they can to put us in the grease. The referees are looking at our men all the time. It comes from propaganda. I'm getting a little sick of it."

The big men in this battle according to Smythe were coach Lynn Patrick of the Boston Bruins and manager - coach Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers.

He termed Patrick a "cry-baby" because of his frequent charges that the Leafs were "clutch-and-grab artists."

He labeled as "a smear" a claim of Boucher's that Toronto was one of three NHL cities in which "it isn't unusual for the visiting team to get the first two penalties."

He assailed Boucher's statements that some clubs are unable to obtain players. He said he had figures to prove that the weaker clubs passed up some big-league performers in the player draft last September.

Smythe then named six players, all of whom are or have been in the NHL this season, who were left unprotected by their owners and could have been purchased for a draft price of $15,000 each. None was claimed.

He produced more figures and said last season the Leafs took the first penalty 23 times. On 12 occasions the visiting team received the first penalty. The Leafs received the first and second penalties on four occasions, and so did the opposition.

Smythe quoted figures for this season showing Leafs have been given the opening penalty six times at the Gardens and the visitors seven times. Twice the opposition received the first and second penalties, compared to once by the Leafs.

Boucher had said in effect that because fans in Detroit, Montreal and Toronto were noisier in support of the home team officials were "subconsciously" affected.

CASH WILL TALK

Smythe, "tired of this talk of these fellows looking with longing eyes at some of our players," asked why they didn't "put some of the long green out."

He said the half-dozen players draftable this season included Rudy Migay, Jim Morrison, Hugh Bolton and Earl Balfour of the Leafs, also Guidolin, Ranger right winger, and centre Johnny McCormack of the Canadiens.

"If you went through the entire list of draftable players, you'd find three or four more who are doing a pretty good job in the NHL," he added. "So let's have no more of this 'nothing available' stuff."

Macs Regain Top Spot in Paddle Loop

The see-saw battle for leadership in the Victoria Table Tennis Association's Senior A League Tuesday saw MacDonald's Ltd. again regain the leading position with a slim one-point edge over Sylvester U-Drive.

The electrical firm moved into top spot by downing Butler Bros., 27-13. The former league-leading Sylvesters bowed to defeat at the hands of Robinson's Grocery, 30-20.

Dowell's Cartage came through with a 27-23 triumph over Blue Bird Cabs.

MERCHANTS MEET CLIPPERS

Second Place Goal Tonight

The Commercial Hockey League spotlight will fall on the battle for second place tonight at Memorial Arena.

Victoria V's and Merchants each have a firm hand-hold on the runner-up position behind Nanaimo Clippers and tonight's game will likely find one of them unseated.

In the opener of the two-game card, V's, weakened by injuries, take on the up-and-coming Navy squad which, although it has only one victory for the season, is improving at a terrific rate and constitutes a threat to any of the leaders.

The feature game, at nine, matches Merchants and Eddie Shamlock's league-leading Clippers.

Merchants, who slipped badly in a three-week slump, appear to have regained their composure and started their comback from third place last week when they defeated V's, 8-3. That victory, together with V's 9-4 loss in Nanaimo Saturday night, let Merchants climb into the second place tie.

INJURY RIDDEN

V's have been hard hit recently, first losing star goaltender Arnie Jorgensen through an attack of appendicitis and then having hard-rock defenseman-coach Fergie McPherson retire to the side-lines with a back injury.

McPherson, whose injury has been diagnosed as a separation of a sacroiliac muscle, is not expected to be back in action until well after the New Year.

Merchants may have veteran Norm LaCree back in harness tonight. The heady, play-making centre has been working out with the club, although he has not yet dressed for a game.

Dineen or Reibel...? NHL Rookie Question

DETROIT (BUP) — Detroit fans are certain the Red Wings have the best rookie in the National Hockey League, but they're having a tough time deciding whether it's Earl Reibel or Bill Dineen.

Reibel, imported from Detroit's farm club at Edmonton to centre for high - scoring Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay, started fast this fall and was giving his linemates a battle for the league's scoring leadership for five weeks.

But a leg injury slowed Reibel down. Dineen was pressed into full-time service and began blinking the red light with regularity.

A 21-year-old product of Toronto St. Michael's, Dineen is the first player to jump from junior hockey straight to the Red Wings since defenseman Red Kelly did it in 1947.

The black-haired youngster rapped home four goals in two games the past week-end to boost his season's total to 11 goals, second best figure among the Red Wings. Howe has blazed the puck into enemy nets 14 times.

Curiously, Dineen almost turned down an offer to play with the Red Wings in favor of college.

He signed a contract only after Detroit agreed to pay for his college education and will enroll at either Ottawa or Michigan State for spring and summer terms after the season ends. Dineen makes his home in Ottawa and hopes to become civil engineer like his father.

As one of nearly 100 candidates at Detroit's fall training camp, Dineen distinguished himself with six goals in exhibition play. Coach Tommy Ivan was impressed and decided to carry him as a spare forward.

Dineen saw little service in early season games as Ivan chose to use veterans of last year's team which had carried Detroit to its fifth straight NHL championship.

But during his infrequent trips to the ice Dineen punched home a goal in a 4 to 0 victory over Toronto and several days later scored Detroit's lone goal in a 1 to 1 deadlock with the Maple Leafs.

With those goals, Dineen began seeing more action and his scoring increased.

Reibel still holds a nine-point edge over Dineen, but he has picked up most of his points on assists on goals by Howe and Lindsay.

Dineen hasn't had the opportunity of playing regularly between those two forwards and consequently has only five assists to go along with his 11 goals.

Ivan wouldn't say that Dineen is better than Reibel or vice versa. "I'm just glad they're both on my team," he said.

Bowling Tournaments Mark Holiday Period

By RON COULTER

With most bowling leagues suspending play over the coming Christmas holiday period, all local alleys have scheduled tournaments.

Gibson's Bowladrome is run-a "head pin" fivepin tourney for both men and women small-ball trundlers from Dec. 27 to Jan. 2.

In this competition bowlers will roll the usual number of balls each frame, but the kegler who hits the head pin most frequently on his first ball of each frame will take home top prize. Prizes will also be awarded for high single and three-game scores. Entries are now being accepted.

Gibson's are also scheduled to hold a tenpin sweep on Boxing Day, Dec. 26.

Tenpinners and fivepinners at Strathcona Alleys will be shooting with their eyes on a turkey.

A "turkey" doubles tourney for five and tenpin trundlers is scheduled to run from Monday until Dec. 24.

Capital City Bowladrome's third annual Christmas Fivepin Tournament will be held from Saturday to Jan. 3, inclusive. Entry forms are now available in both A and B sections. Prizes will also be given for both women's and men's high single, high three-game scores and hidden scores.

Teams in the A division will be competing for the Dawson and Hall Trophy while the B teams will be seeking the Rose's Jewellers Trophy.

Esquimalt Lions Club is sponsoring a "one-ball" fivepin tourney at the Esquimalt alleys on Dec. 26, 28, 29 and 30. Bowling will be at 3.30, 7 and 8.30 each night, except Dec. 30, when the final shift will start at 8.30 p.m.

Geoff Worrall and Gerry Devine set the pace in Capital City major fivepin play this week with identical 815 triples.

Reg Waggoner, 781; Bob McLeod, 745; Collin Turrell, 720; Stan Bell, 709; and Dave Doolittle at 707 rolled other high threes.

Bill McKinnon, 744; Doug Ronkey, 734; and Elsie Cannan at 703 topped the mixed section.

Mac McKenzie led the week-end section with a 718 triple while Ernie Ball was high in Monday mixed action with a 732 total.

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Art Aragon, 147, Los Angeles, knocked out Art Soto, 147, Oakland, Calif. (10).

Sno-Birds Find Good Snow For First Spin of Season

By A. SLALOM

About 35 Victorians spent last week-end in the snow and sun, skiing on Mt. Brenton.

For the first trip of the season, the Victoria Sno-Birds Ski Club members found snow conditions good, from 12 to 18 inches, enough for skiing but not enough to keep the tow running all day. The group included new and prospective members, as well as a few 'snowbunnies' who made out very well on Mt. Brenton's gentle slopes . . . instruction was provided on Saturday afternoon by ski-whizz Toni Lamprecht.

Another trip is planned for this week-end and also for the long Christmas week-end . . . members and prospective members can call Miss Elizabeth Paynter at 8-0306, after 6 p.m. for transportation.

No Shoe Strings Here; Teams Can't Afford 'em

TORONTO (CP)—The days of operating an amateur hockey team on a shoe string are over. The teams technically can't even afford to buy the shoe string.

"Nobody makes money in amateur hockey," Stafford Smythe, manager of Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league, said in an interview Tuesday night.

He estimated it cost between $40,000 and $50,000 a year to operate a team in the OHA.

"And we consider it a good season if we lose between $20,000 and $30,000," he said.

England gave us a secret

Some 100 years ago the bartender of Pimm's Restaurant of London invented a tall drink which he called Pimm's Cup. To this day, the formula for this delectable, taste-tempting gin drink is still a secret. Try it—it's the coolest, brightest, most refreshing long-iced drink you ever tasted!
Here's a simple way to enjoy Pimm's No. 1 Cup. Take 2 ozs. of Pimm's No. 1 Cup; charge with lemon soda or gingerale; add a slice of lemon, a thin slice of cucumber rind (if available) and serve well iced.
NOW ON SALE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Canada's Price Index Down, U.S. Up

Reversing a steady five-month rise, Canada's living cost index declined during October to 11.62 from 116.7. Food price reductions were chiefly responsible. U.S. consumer price index (dotted line) advanced in mid-October to record 115.4. In Canada's index 1949 prices equal 100. In U.S. index average of prices in 1947-49 period equals 100. These indices only measure percentage change in each country and should not be used to compare actual levels of prices in Canada and the U.S. (Canadian Press chart.)

MARKETS SUMMARY

Advances Made By All Index Groups

TORONTO (CP)—All price groups were higher in light trading toward the close of today's stock market session.

Industrials led the rise, followed by western oils, base metals and golds.

In industrials, papers, utilities and refining oils were the leaders.

Holding companies and senior golds were steady in light trading and juniors were slightly ahead.

Base metals were higher with seniors leading as International Nickel and Noranda made gains.

OILS DIVIDED

Western oils had an equal number of gains and losses. Gains ranged to Canadian Atlantic's 25 cents. Calgary & Edmonton, down 10 cents, led the losers.

Uraniums were stronger as gains led losses by a three-to-one margin.

Sharp Rise Takes N.Y. Out of Rut

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market soared today out of the irregularly lower rut in which it had been caught for the last two weeks.

Aircrafts and steels were the best of the principal groups. Also higher were railroads, oils, coppers, farm implements, electronics, chemicals, rubbers, and a long list of miscellaneous issues.

International Nickel led Canadian stocks higher, up ½. It was followed by Canadian Pacific, ahead ⅜; Hiram Walker, up ¼, and Distillers Seagram, up ⅛.

Lake Shore and Royalite Oil, Canadian issues on the American stock exchange, were unchanged.

Collieries' Shares Touch New High Mark

Another new high was reached by Canadian Collieries on Vancouver stock exchange this forenoon.

Opening at $6, Collieries rose to 6.15 before settling back to 5.90-6.10 at noon. Forenoon transactions totaled 6,490 shares.

Merrill Pete traded 2,200 shares and was quoted at 5.10-5.20 at noon.

Estella receded a quarter-cent from the opening price, 21 cents, on sales totalling 14,000 shares.

Rail Strike Threat Makes London Cautious

LONDON (Reuters)—Trading on London stock exchange was restrained today while dealers awaited the outcome of further talks on the rail wages dispute.

Government securities were quietly steady. Small gains were sprinkled throughout industrials.

South African gold shares were generally better. Diamonds were fractionally lower through lack of interest. Selected oils scored small gains.

BUSINESS CAPSULE

Toronto Shopping Centre To Sell 2 Nights a Week

Canada's largest shopping centre—the 40-store Lawrence Plaza at Toronto—will be open to shoppers each Monday and Friday night after the New Year.

At present the Lawrence Plaza shops are open each Thursday and Friday evening.

Reasons for switching from Thursday to Monday evening, according to Financial Post, are:

1. Friday is payday for many people, which helps account for the heavy trade that night. But on Thursday (the night before payday) these people are "broke." On Monday night, it is hoped, they still will have part of the previous week's pay-cheque.

2. Monday night was a surprisingly good shopping night during a several-week trial period in which the shops stayed open every night of the week.

3. U.S. experience indicates smart, energetic advertising and selling campaigns can make Monday evening's trade brisk and worthwhile even though Monday, traditionally, is poor for sales in daytime-only stores.

Lawrence Plaza, by the way, is the second shopping centre to be opened around Toronto by Principal Investments Ltd. Third such centre will be officially opened Jan. 7. A fourth is being constructed and a fifth is in the planning stage.

BUSINESS WORLD NEWS POTPOURRI

Twelve years behind staid Victoria, Calgary Chamber of Commerce today admitted its first woman member. She is Mrs. Marion Purdy, businesswoman, widow of R. D. Purdy, one-time chairman of Alberta Wheat Pool. Victoria Chamber of Commerce has had women members for more than a dozen years—there are a half dozen on the current list—and once boasted a women's division, headed by Mrs. Brown, widow of W. H. Brown, founder of Brown's Victoria Nurseries Ltd.

And Victoria was the first chamber of commerce in Canada to elect a woman to its directorate—Mrs. Nancy Hodges, then MLA for Victoria and now B.C.'s junior senator.

Stabilization account of Medical Services Association today represents $5.71 or nearly three months' reserve per person covered, according to MSA's annual report. MSA is a non-profit medical service plan covering 214,601 British Columbians. It is underwritten by the doctors of B.C. and employers. Income during year ended last August 31 was $5,591,118.07. Expenditures for medical care totalled $4,891,191.25 (87.48 per cent of dues paid). Administrative and other operating expenses totaled $314,796.96 (5.63 per cent of dues).

Argus Corporation Ltd. asset value on November 30 was $22.14 a share, compared with $21.34 a year ago. Income from investments was down—$1,468,266 compared with $1,593,495. The Argus portfolio includes 300,000 shares of B.C. Forest Products Ltd

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Price changes were irregular at the close of an inactive session today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

The only feature was moderate activity in flax with some export buying.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included 365,000 bushels to the United Kingdom.

Prices of Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

Big Mineral Development Looms in Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (CP)—A search is under way to uncover the mineral wealth of Nova Scotia, sparked by the boom that carried New Brunswick into the fore as a source of base metals earlier this year.

Never in the province's history has such an interest been taken in her potential mineral wealth.

Since October three mining companies have taken out concession rights in the province.

Landover Oils and Mines last October obtained exclusive one-year rights to about 1,100 square miles. The concession covers the southwest portion of Cape Breton Island. The company has the right to all mineral except coal.

In the same month, M. J. Boylen of Toronto acquired 300 square miles surrounding a tungsten discovery near Canso. Guy P. MacKay, a Nova Scotia prospector, made the tungsten discovery on the mainland side of the Strait of Canso and is vendor of the property. Two rich veins have been discovered. Several others show promise.

The third concession, covering 295 square miles, was purchased by another Boylen company.

Holiday Stamp Books Asked by B.C. Workers

Vancouver Building Trades' Representatives Meet With Labor Minister to Discuss Plan

VANCOUVER (CP)—Industry and worker representatives from Vancouver building trades met with Labor Minister Lyle Wicks here Tuesday to discuss the proposed institution of holiday stamp books in B.C.

The books would be used to keep an accurate record of time worked by carpenters and other construction workers in order to compute the number of days holidays owing them annually. Similar systems now are in force in Ontario, Manitoba and Alberta.

Herb Flescher of the Building Trades Council (AFL) said following the meeting that council representatives had received a "very favorable hearing" from the minister.

The minister asked both management and worker representatives to make representations to the government concerning institution of the books.

Mr. Flescher said the council and industry representatives have held a number of discussions on the proposal, seeking means of arriving at a system that would be as free of "red tape" as possible.

VANCOUVER (CP)— R. K. Gervin, secretary of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council, charged Tuesday that Labor Minister Lyle Wicks "turned a deaf ear" to the union demands that the Labor Relations Board be returned to a full-time basis.

Mr. Gervin and five other leaders of AFL unions in B.C. met Mr. Wicks here Monday to make representations of LRB matters.

The five-member board was put on a part-time basis last January by the labor minister, who delegated some of its duties to the B.C. labor department.

Judge Bound For P. George IWA Hearings

VANCOUVER (CP)—Judge Arthur Lord and representatives of both the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) and lumber operators left here by plane Tuesday for Prince George where hearings into the northern interior lumber strike will open Wednesday.

Judge Lord was appointed by the provincial cabinet to conduct an inquiry into the strike after previous government attempts to settle the 12-week-old dispute failed.

He is authorized, under section 54 of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, to investigate all aspects of the dispute, and to make recommendations for settlement. However, there is no legal compulsion for either party to accept his findings as a basis for settlement.

Carey Chief Of Esquimalt Celebrations

Annual meeting of the Esquimalt celebrations committee Tuesday saw J. E. Carey re-elected to his fourth term as president.

R. Hadley was elected vice-president; E. Walters, secretary; Mrs. A. Jennings, treasurer, and A. I. Thomas, auditor.

May 9 and 10 were set for Esquimalt celebration days in 1954, which are planned to include naval displays, a soap-box derby, a baby show and a variety show.

Mr. Carey's report noted that in the last year the group had supported the boys' boxing club, initiated a teen-age club and set aside funds to send a student to the British Empire Games.

Crown Gets Adjournment In Woodhams' Libel Trial

TRAIL (CP)—The B.C. Attorney-General's department Tuesday asked Magistrate Henry John to adjourn the hearing of libel charges against Geoffrey Woodhams of Trail until mid-January.

Charges of libel against Mr. Woodhams, publisher of the weekly Kootenay Free Press, were laid by two Trail lawyers following publication of an editorial on a recent inquest here into a traffic fatality.

Don Brothers of Trail, representing the attorney-general, asked for the adjournment on the grounds hearing of the libel charge might prejudice the trial of William Butorac of Rossland, charged with manslaughter as a result of the traffic accident.

Magistrate John adjourned the libel case until Dec. 21 and indicated further remands would be granted holding the case over until after the manslaughter trial, scheduled to open here Jan. 4.

Christmas Amnesty For 73 German PWs

BONN (Reuters) — British and United States occupation forces today set free 73 German prisoners, including five war criminals, under an Allied high commission Christmas amnesty.

BARGAIN TRIP

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — Harold Hellough, an engineer for Queen Charlotte Airlines Company repaired a small airplane which had been lying on the beach for a year after a crackup. He made a 6,000-mile flight across Canada in it at a cost of $120.

OAK BAY UNITED CHORISTERS SING CAROLS BY CANDLELIGHT

Music of Christmas was presented by Oak Bay United Church choir at a candlelight service Tuesday night in the church auditorium.

Familiar carols made up the first half of the program. The second half featured Christmas music from Handel's "Messiah."

The choir was under the direction of Mrs. Vera Barclay. Guest artist was organist James Saunders.

Christmas is Coming!

CHRISTMAS—the happiest of times for all the family—will soon be here! In thousands of cheerful homes Andrews will be helping to maintain the general good health and gaiety, banishing the little troubles that are apt to follow richer food and later hours.

Many of Andrews' staunchest friends made their first purchase at this season, and have continued to use Andrews ever since for its all-the-year-round benefits to health and fitness.

Your Christmas shopping list should include Andrews, because:—

First, Andrews refreshes the mouth and tongue with its lively sparkle and pleasant taste.

Next, it sweetens sour stomach and relieves acid indigestion.

Then, finally, without irritating internally Andrews relieves constipation, working with an easy natural-like action.

Andrews gives you a happy Christmas - the day after!

Magic Touch to Indian Chiefs' Potlatch Beat

Wearing colorful ceremonial robes, four Indian chiefs squatting on a specially constructed bench beat time with sticks and chant native songs while native dancers perform before a fire in the new Kwakiutl tribal house at Thunderbird Park. The beat is four-stroke and is supposed to have certain magical qualities. The chiefs are all wearing cedar-bark head bands, signifying that the "Winter Dance" season has begun. Left to right are Chief Mungo Martin, who is holding the potlatch; Dan Crammer, an important Kwakiutl Indian chief, who is acting as interpreter; Charles Nowell and George Shaw. BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Two vignettes of Victoria—guaranteed to be true, if not funny.

The bus was crowded. It was the peak of the homeward bound rush hour. Mingled with tired-looking office workers were too many Christmas shoppers who should have taken an earlier bus.

The passengers, once they snarled their way aboard, sat or stood in sullen silence. And the driver looked cross and tired, too.

A five-year-old was jammed up close to the driver's seat. And, through the silence as the bus waited at a traffic light, his clear young voice was heard:

"How many marbles have YOU got?"

The driver looked down at the little boy, and in a gentle voice said.

"I lost my marbles long ago, or I wouldn't be in THIS job."

A foresighted citizen of Victoria purchased his holiday supply of packaged refreshment early this week.

Being very foresighted, and aware of his limitations, he handed over the supply to his wife, giving her strict instructions to hide it until the festive season arrived.

But also being the thirsty type, it was not long before he began to importune his wife to reveal the hiding place of at least one bottle.

After he had cajoled her for a solid half hour, his wife became tired of the whole operation, and said: "All right, if you'll promise to be quiet, I will tell you where one bottle is hidden.

"You know the wood pile in the basement? Well, I removed a stick of wood in the center of the pile, and put the bottle there."

Eagerly, her husband asked: "Which stick of wood?"

And smugly the wife replied: "I can't remember."

Three hours later, the husband staggered up from the basement.

"I've removed every blasted stick of wood in the blasted pile in the blasted basement," he complained, "and I can't find any blasted bottle."

"In the basement?" said his wife sweetly. "Did I say the woodpile in the basement? Oh dear, I meant to say, the woodpile in the garage."

'Wild Man of the Woods'

Wearing a costume of cedar bark, David Martin, son of Chief Martin, represents the wild man of the woods in the "Cannibal Dance." He is supposed to be possessed by a spirit which does not know the difference between right or wrong. This is considered a difficult dance and in a sense is symbolic of man's rise from the "primitive" to the age of reason.

Safe From 'Cannibal Spirit'

Dancing in front of an open fire inside the tribal house is David Martin again. He has discarded his cedar bark costume and is now wearing a rare chilcat blanket made by his mother. He is still dancing a part of the Cannibal dance. He has now been saved from the "Cannibal Spirit" and is human again. In the background is a large cradle suspended from the roof. This cradle was used by Chief Martin to christen some of his grandchildren with Indian names, on the opening day of the potlach.

TOURIST LURE

Preservation Of Potlatch Indian's Aim

By HUMPHRY DAVY

If Indian potlatches, like the one the public will see tonight at Thunderbird Park, were held every year, they would become a big tourist attraction, Mrs. Hattie Fergusson, Vancouver, president of the Coqualeetza Fellowship, said today.

Mrs. Fergusson, a Tsymshian Indian, who is attending Chief Mungo Martin's gift-giving festival to mark the opening of the new tribal house at the park, said "public" potlatches would help to keep native dances from dying out.

"Remember, native art and dances are only common to this province," she said. "They have no such highly developed native art and dances in other parts of Canada and the United States."

Some of the native dancing, Mrs. Fergusson felt, could be used in the ballet. "There are some excellent themes which could be put to some use," she said.

The fellowship headed by Mrs. Fergusson is one of the largest social and welfare native organizations in the province.

PUBLIC INVITED

The potlatch in the new Kwakiutl Indian house will start tonight at 8. This is the last day of the gift-giving festival which started Monday. The public will be admitted and songs and dances will be performed by native dancers.

The admission of people to the festival will also mark the first time such an event has been thrown open to the public. Potlatches were banned by the federal government in 1880, but in 1951 Indians were allowed to revive this festival. It is the first time that one has been made public.

The public will see a fascinating dance of tribal animals. The wolf, a raccoon, a mouse, a kingfisher, a night owl, a pair of deer, will be all represented in the dance. Chief Dan Crammer will interpret the meaning of the dances.

Breaches, Bumps Cost Four Drivers Court Penalties

Three motorists paid fines in city court today for careless driving, and a fourth was penalized for operating a car without adequate liability insurance.

Rhoda F. Harrison, 1329 Minto, paid $35 after pleading guilty to striking the rear of another car on View Street, Dec. 3. A similar accident on Bay Street, Dec. 8, when $300 damage was done, cost Robert C. Kennedy, 840 Tolmie, a similar $35 fine.

Kennedy told police his brake pedal was worn smooth and his foot had been wet and had slipped off. Magistrate H. C. Hall said the faulty pedal should have been replaced.

Kennedy's license also will be suspended.

Zorah McLennan, 516 Comerford, pleaded guilty to careless driving when she passed through a red light on Fisgard Street and struck another car Dec. 6. She also paid $35 and her license will be suspended.

The same fine was collected from Robert Lacey, 2651 Mt. Stephen, when he admitted to driving without insurance.

Road Wreck Victim Fighting for Life

Crash Driver Unidentified

Police are withholding identity of the driver of a car that smashed into a power line pole at 11.30 Tuesday night, seriously injuring one of the two occupants.

In "poor" condition at Jubilee Hospital is 20-year-old Charles McIsaac, 606 Speed. Police say he suffered multiple skull fractures.

Frank L , 19, of 1325 Lang, is at St. Joseph's, where he was taken suffering from shock and bruises. He is held for observation.

The two were in a car which skidded off the road on the city side of the Saanich boundary at Gorge and Harriet. The car struck a pole with such force that extrication of the men from the mass of twisted steel was difficult.

The car wrapped itself around the pole, tearing it from its base and leaving it hanging from connecting wires. The roof of the vehicle burst open and one door imbedded itself in the pole.

F. McPherson, 9 Gorge Road East, heard the sound of the impact and was first on the scene. He said he heard a "crash" like "guns going off." He rushed outside then returned to call police.

150-FOOT SKID MARKS

Skid marks in loose gravel bordering the road stretched for 150 feet from the collision. The car appeared to have been approaching the city.

From the position the two men were in it was impossible following the crash, to say who was driving. But city traffic officers visited Lapp at hospital today. The police learned who was driving but refused to divulge it.

The accident is the first this year to occur on the city side of the Gorge-Harriet intersection. But within 100 yards on the other side, where the highway curves, there have been 10 accidents this year, according to Saanich police.

Most tragic was the death of Miss Laurada Jones on Oct. 17, who was struck by a car while attempting to cross the street. The alleged driver, Frank Lane, is awaiting trial on a charge of manslaughter.

Food for Charity Admission Price For Kiddies' Show

Youngsters who attend this week's session of the Odeon Movie Club will be required to bring a gift of food as admission fee.

The food will be forwarded to Mrs. Barbara Green's free food stall for distribution to families in need.

The movie club meets Saturdays at 9.30 in the Odeon Theatre for cartoon movies and a short feature. At Christmastime last year, club members contributed to the free food stall.

Elliott Brown, theatre manager, said he hoped more than 1,000 youngsters will attend the Saturday show so that this year's contribution will exceed last year's when a truckload of food was turned over to Mrs. Green for distribution.

Slow Pace Cuts Cost For Collision Culprit

The fact that Henry W. Neilsen, Claremont Avenue, was travelling slowly when he collided with an elderly man who stepped suddenly from a curb, won him a mininum fine in police court today.

Neilsen said John Garbutt, 1045 Balmoral, "fell into the car," November 21, at the time of the accident.

A $10 fine imposed was "very mild, because I'm satisfied you were going slowly," said Magistrate H. C. Hall.

SAFECRACKERS LEAVE TORCH IN BANK ROBBERY ATTEMPT

Would-be safecrackers, apparently disturbed at their work by a janitor at 6.45 a.m. today, fled empty-handed from the Cumberland branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Entry had been gained by boring through a coal chute door, permitting it to be unlatched. The outer vault had been cut through, but the thieves were frightened off before they could open the inner vault.

They left behind them an oxy-acetylene cutting outfit and other burglars' tools.

RED UNIONS NAMED

B.C. Called Bastion Of Communist Party

A total of 90,000 British Columbians, in 144 separate organizations, knowingly or unknowingly promote the cause of Communism, according to an eastern journalist.

John Harbron, writing in the December 12 issue of The Financial Post, published in Toronto, claims "B.C. today is one of Canadian Communism's most fertile spawning grounds, a bastion in the over-all Canadian Communist disruptive strategy."

Viewing the province with the perspective gained through 3,000 miles of distance, Mr. Harbron credits the Victoria Chamber of Commerce with being the spearhead of the campaign to beat Communists on their own ground.

Victoria Jaycees, he wrote, "forced termination of Victoria Peace Council's public meetings, and a sudden change of executive," and left Dr. James Endicott of germ warfare fame "visibly shaken" after a meeting they attended in Nanaimo.

Here are some of the organizations through which Mr. Harbron claims the Communists work in British Columbia:

United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, suspended by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada for its alleged Communist leadership—31 locals.

International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, with no affiliations, of which Harvey Murphy is regional director—17 B.C. locals.

B.C. Peace Councils — 10 groups.

Labor Progressive Party — 61 branches.

Association of United Ukrainian Canadians, which Mr. Harbron calls the "largest Red Slavic front"—seven branches.

National Federation of Labor Youth—nine clubs.

Workers' Benevolent Association of Canada, called a "Red-dominated workers' insurance scheme"—eight branches.

Federation of Russian Canadians—45 branches.

Other local unions and groups—36.

Mr. Harbron claims it is no coincidence that Communist-dominated unions control the working forces of B.C.'s mining and fishing industries. Communists were even better off before the International Woodworkers of America got rid of its Communist leadership in 1948, he stated.

Cemetery to Buy Adjoining Lands

City council's finance committee today gave authorization for the board of cemetery trustees of Greater Victoria to purchase 4.47 acres of land on East Saanich Road, adjoining Royal Oak Burial Park, so the cemetery can be expanded in that direction.

The property was offered the cemetery board for $2,000 by owner George Rudd.

The cemetery board is self-supporting and has funds available for the purchase.

Night Opening for All Liquor Stores

All B.C. liquor stores will go on a night shift basis during most of the festive season, Col. Donald McGugan, Liquor Control Board chairman, said today.

They will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on December 19, 21, 22, 23, 24 and 31. Usual closing time is 6 p.m.

Stores already open at night, until 11 p.m., will continue to do so.

Col. McGugan said this is the first time night opening has been ordered and is done to eliminate congestion.

NAVY DIVERS HUNTING STOLEN SAFE

A Royal Canadian Navy diving team from Esquimalt is today searching 25 feet of water at Pender Harbor—looking for a safe stolen from the post office there late Friday night or early Saturday morning.

Post office authorities believe the robbers were unable to break open the safe, and threw it in the harbor in disgust. They have a "pretty fair" idea of its location. There was no money or valuables in the safe.

The navy men left Esquimalt at 8 a.m. today, in a Fairmile, commanded by CPO Sidney Dobey.

The underwater experts are skilled both as frogmen and regulation divers.

Fine of $35 For Assault

A man who grappled with a 19-year-old girl as she walked toward her home from a lonely bus stop near the Songhee Indian Reserve late Tuesday night was found guilty of indecent assault in Colwood police court today.

Gordon V. McKenna, 1424 Begbie, was fined $35 and $5.50 costs by Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

Police stated that the girl's screams scared off her attacker. She said the accused had followed her homeward from the bus stop and at a dark spot had struggled with her and she fell to the ground.

She screamed for her parents in her home nearby and the molester fled.

RCMP officers at Colwood made the arrest after receiving a description of the man from the hysterical girl.

ASK The TIMES

Q—Was there ever a one-cent city letter rate here?—H.W.D.

A—Yes, for many years. It came into effect in 1898. An item in the Daily Times of Dec. 9, 1913, said: "Extension of the one-cent drop letter rate on mail passing between Oak Bay and the city is to be urged on the Federal government by the municipal council of the neighboring town."

Q—When was the Ross Bay cemetery opened? Is it managed by a burial board, or how?—D.B.B.

A—The first burial was made in that cemetery in December, 1872. The active management is the responsibility of the Ross Bay Cemetery committee of the city council. In larger matters the committee may make recommendations to the council, to be passed by it.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest.

Sign of AAA Approval Lost, District Firms Plan Appeal

Appeal against American Automobile Association's withdrawal of AAA approval of their businesses will be launched by a half-dozen southern Vancouver Island hotel, motel and cafe owners.

Victoria Automobile Club, AAA affiliate here, will support these representations, manager George I. Warren said today.

"We believe these places will meet AAA standards if given the opportunity," Mr. Warren said. He pointed out a number of establishments disapproved by AAA last spring now meet new, more exacting standards required.

AAA Tuesday instructed that its signboards be removed from 20 of 58 hotels, motels and eating-places in the area between Cobble Hill and Victoria.

Action followed inspection by R. I. Spence, Washington, D.C., AAA's chief field reporter. Mr. Spence spent a month inspecting the area.

Although he was highly critical of a few, chief reason for withdrawal of approval was recent tightening of AAA standards of accommodation.

Besides having permission to display AAA's blue-and-white triangular crest, approved hotels, motels, resorts and cafes are listed in travel booklets provided to AAA members. American Automobile Association has 3,747,824 members. There are 1,500 AAA members in and around Victoria.

Okay, Chief, as You Say! We'll Put Our Tree in Water

By PENNY SAVER

Fire-Chief Frank Briers says that for safety's sake we should place our Christmas trees in tubs of water.

An excellent idea! BUT . . . where do we get a tub for our tree that won't slosh water all over the living room carpet every time it's accidentally kicked . . . huh, Chief?

I can tell you, 'cause they're on sale in Victoria right now and if you don't own one, you should! They cost just $3.95 and that's a pretty small price when you consider it could mean saving your entire home . . . and you can use the stand for many years to come.

Your Christmas tree will stay fresh, green and moist for weeks and it will not catch fire nearly as quickly as one that is dried out.

The stand consists of a pan with a six-inches deep cone-shaped centre of metal, painted green. It has three red metal supports, in which are set three heavy screws.

You sharpen the end of the tree and place it in the cone, tighten the screws until they bite into the wood holding the tree erect, then fill the pan with water to within an inch of the top, and that's all. The whole thing is covered so the water can't possibly slosh!

Have you been trying to find some jack pine, too? Everyone's been scrounging around for some for Christmas decorations and without much success, I've noted.

Well, I've found a place that's selling lots of it . . . heavily-needled green boughs that are just perfect for living room decoration. This store gives you a good-sized bunch for 50 cents. They've brought it over from Salt Spring Island, so that's a very reasonable price, I'd say!

Want some? Then phone me, and I'll tell you where you can buy bunches of it!

★ ★ ★

Plum pudding, made from another old English recipe, has real dark English ale in it. You've never tasted anything like this, folks! You can buy individual ones for 25 cents. The large ones start at $1.35.

Natural Interests Should Continue After Marriage

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Far too many women make the mistake of giving up their interests in outside activities when they marry and have a family to take care of. That is happening to the woman who writes:

Hurlock

(Q) "I used to spend several hours a day on my music; but now, with three children and a home to take care of, I rarely have a chance to go near the piano except to dust it. I also used to sing in our church choir and was asked to play at many social functions. I am asked to play at the PTA and church from time to time even now, but I always decline because I have no time to practice. My parents are very upset because they made many sacrifices to give me my musical education and I miss my music very much. But what else can I do?"

(A) I am sure that, with careful management, you could keep up your interest in music as well as the practice needed for playing the piano. But it will require the co-operation of your family, at least until your children are older so that they will not take up so much of your time.

Let us consider the singing first. There should be plenty of opportunities for you to sing while you do your housework. Then, why not gather the whole family around the piano after supper and have a "family sing?" The children will enjoy this and it will help them to develop an appreciation for music, if not actual ability.

Arrange with your husband to stay with the children the evening your church choir has its practice. Then, on Sunday, have them attend Sunday school while you sing in the choir. I am sure your parents would help you out should one of the children be sick on Sunday morning and have to stay away from Sunday school.

If you assigned household duties to every member of the family, you should get the housework done in time to allow yourself several hours of practice at the piano daily. Then accept the invitations to play for social gatherings.

Once again, call on your husband or parents to stay with the children while you are out. You are not being fair to yourself or your family by allowing your musical interest and talent to go to waste as you are now doing.

As a special service to our readers, Dr. Hurlock has written a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15c in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper.

When changing the water of flowers, it is wise to flush the vase out carefully to kill bacteria. It is also a good idea to sprinkle a little water on the leaves and blossoms. You'l delay wilting if you cut about a half inch off the stems every few days.

If your legs are heavy, don't make the mistake of wearing very dark stockings. The shade will only attract attention. Wear the popular shades; they are more likely to go unnoticed.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Select Your Furniture to Match You and Your Personality

For some time now many women have been aware of the fact that it is smart to use becoming colors in the decoration of their bedrooms and drawing rooms. It's a wonder we did not think of this years ago because if the shade of dresses or hats or make-up are important, certainly the wall behind us or the chair we sit in, also is.

Now a new idea pops up! You should try on your furniture before you buy it just like you do your clothes. Mr. Harry Vakassin, New York designer of modern furniture, explained this notion to me.

He said, "If a woman is long-legged or slim she should pass up the low, deep, treacherously soft couch or chair, even though she thinks it will look well against her living room decor.

"It is just as important that her furniture becomes her as that it suit the room it is in. Women understand that a hat or fur piece is meant to frame the face and improve it. The same principle applies to furniture."

Mr. Vakassin was a pioneer in changing the bulky angularity of modern furniture to slim elegance and softly rounded curves. He was moved in this direction by watching otherwise graceful femmes struggle painfully to get out of chairs and sofas which were too deep. He remembers one party where a small woman who had been sitting all evening curled up in a big chair, got a charley horse trying to get out of it.

Harry Vakassin takes this into consideration in his designs. Some pieces are for small women and others for tall ones and a recent design features a sofa with a double foam rubber back cushion. One layer can be removed when a long-legged woman is sitting there.

Much modern furniture is upholstered in plastics which are beautiful and can be washed.

Housekeeping ain't what it used to be!

We spend so much time in our homes, and so much of that time we want to look our best, that it does seem a smart idea to think of what will flatter us in furniture and decoration just as well as in make-up and clothes.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Cranberry Christmas Bread

Two, cakes of compressed yeast, 1 cup milk, 4¼ cups flour, 2 eggs, ¼ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup butter, ½ cup chopped citron, ½ cup raisins, 1 cup fresh cranberries, well chopped, ½ cup chopped nuts, pecans or filberts.

Scald milk and cool to lukewarm. Add sugar, beaten eggs, yeast cake and flour. Beat thoroughly. Add butter, fruit dredged with flour, nuts and salt. Knead, cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch, turn over and let rise about 1¾ its original size (about 45 minutes).

Shape into round loaves, place on greased pans and brush with milk or salted butter. When doubled in bulk, bake 45 minutes at 375 degrees F. Can be frosted with powdered sugar and milk glaze with some sweetened, crushed cranberries folded in. (Makes 2 loaves.)

Women of interest to

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

"You'd never know it was the Christmas season by looking at people," said the elderly man who stood beside me yesterday on a downtown street.

We were waiting for our respective buses. It was the rush hour and men, women and children were jostling and pushing their way back and forth in front of us.

Bessie

Some had lunch buckets in their hands. Others carried shopping bags. All of them held one, two or many parcels that it was easy to guess were meant for Christmas gifts.

"Watch them closely," said the elderly man, as he looked quietly at the passing parade.

"Do you see any smiles . . . any laughing faces?"

His own face wrinkled into a friendly grin and his eyes twinkled at me. "You see, I'm a pensioner. I don't have very much to do, so for the last few years I've made a study of faces.

"Along about this time of year you see three different kinds of expressions. It starts with a sort of harried look along about the beginning of December.

"What am I going to give Aunt Emma? is what that look says. Will Billy like the sweater I'm saving up to buy for him? Should I order my turkey today? That's the harried look."

The elderly man gently nudged my elbow and nodded to a brightly-lighted store window close to where we were standing. "See what I mean?" he whispered.

Standing looking in the window were a middle-aged woman, a young man and a teen-age girl. Their faces were strained and tired. Their eyes jumping quickly from object to object on display. You could imagine you read the question mark in their minds . . . "What will I give?"

And as the elderly man had said, all three DID have a harried look.

"Toward the end of this week I'll see another expression," my observer told me. "The resigned look.

"That's a little better," he said seriously. "You know they are getting around to accepting things as they come and not worrying so much.

"Of course, they won't choose as well-thought-out gifts . . . I guess they won't even stop to think what they are choosing. Just pick something out and hope for the best."

"Resignation does that to people, you know.

He stood quietly, looking out over the street. A man who likes to study faces.

Happy Faces Needed

By this time I was interested enough to ask about the third expression he said he always detected at this season of the year.

"That's the happy look!" he answered, his own face breaking into a grin. "It does come eventually, you know.

"After they've been harried long enough, and after they've decided there's nothing to do but string along with the time of year, the people really enjoy the Christmas season.

"It will happen along about the middle of next week," he told me. "You'll see the faces changing. People start shaking hands. Women stop to talk, even when they are rushing to finish their shopping."

He looks down at me, the slow smile still in his eyes. "Why, I've even known them to stop and wish an old codger like me the compliments of the season. What do you know about that?"

His bus drew up at the curb and he edged away from the building and out into the crowd milling around its open door.

"Don't forget to watch faces," is what he said. "Once they do start to smile, you'll know Christmas is here!"

Honored at Bon Voyage Party

Miss Diane Parsons, RN, who left Monday by plane for Plymouth, Eng., was honored Saturday evening when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, 1400 Pembroke Street, entertained at a bon voyage Christmas party. A turkey dinner was served from a table centred with miniature tree, Santa Claus and reindeer and Miss Parsons opened her Christmas presents which were arranged beneath a gaily decorated tree. Guests joined in singing carols after dinner. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conova, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Russell, Mrs. Tony Lock, Miss Enid Latham, Thurley Duck, Athlyn Bruce and Mr. Bob Conova, Mr. John Conova, Mr. Ray Foster and Mr. Jim Russell. While in Plymouth, Miss Parsons will bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Kay Bigelow to Sub-Lieut Bob Gibbons and also at the wedding of Jubilee Hospital graduate, Miss Elaine Mercer. Miss Parsons will return to Victoria on January 15 after celebrating the New Year in Paris.

Mrs. A. Mills New President

At annual meeting of Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute, Mrs. A. Mills was elected president; Mrs. D. Flatman, vice-president; Mrs. H. Peterson, secretary-treasurer; Mesdames J. Flatman, V. Caudwell and M. E. Hutchison, directors; Mrs. J. Middleton, program; Mrs. A. Silman, citizenship; Mrs. Osterlen, social welfare; Mrs. J. Richardson, home economics; Mrs. W. Allen, handicrafts; Mrs. R. Hiscock, agriculture, and Mrs. H. Phillips, publicity.

Plans were made for distributing gift boxes to older members of the community and Christmas hampers to the less fortunate. Food and clothing have been collected and other assistance given to needy families.

Following business, a Christmas party with exchange of gifts was enjoyed.

Christmas Party

A meeting was held in the Cathedral School Hall on Monday afternoon. Pictures were shown, and tea was served. The group meets every second and fourth Monday of every month at 2 p.m.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert W. Taylor and Dr. Frank W. Fraser of Victoria were in Portland, Ore., last week-end to attend the three-day annual Northwest Congress of Optometry, held in Multnomah Hotel.

Coming Home for Christmas

Many Victoria students attending university in other parts of Canada and the United States are arriving home this week to spend the Christmas season with their families. Miss Margaret Molson and Miss Diana Elkington, who are attending McGill University, are among them.

Coming from University of British Columbia are Misses Anne Whittington, Maxine Young, Elizabeth McCallum, Irene Young, Bev Michell, Frances Appleton, Margot Young, Janet Henderson, Maralyn Richards, Audrey Linnes and Moya Martin.

Miss Marie Milburn and Miss Sheila Bates of Mills College are also arriving.

Golden Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Siddall, 1033 Pendergast Street, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary this week and will be at home to their friends on Saturday, Dec. 19, in the afternoon and evening. Mrs. Siddall was born in Victoria and Mr. Siddall came to the city with his parents in 1889.

Christmas in Nigeria

Mrs. R. A. Patrick, 133 Cambridge Street, has left Victoria for London, England, from where she will fly to Nigeria to spend Christmas with Col. and Mrs. George Henderson of Kaduna. She will spend some time in Africa and will visit in England for a couple of months in the spring prior to returning to her home here.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rippon of Lakebay, Wash., are visitors in the city, guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. George, at their Highview Road home. They have come to Victoria to be present at the wedding of Miss Mary Spence and Mr. R. W. George, which takes place this evening. Also here for the wedding and guests of Mr. and Mrs. George, are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Porter of Nanaimo.

Vows Solemnized In Gorge Church

White chrysanthemums formed a setting, Saturday afternoon, for the wedding of Cynthia Mary, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Laverty, Tillicoultry, Scotland, to John Taylor, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Melvin, Clackmannon, Scotland. Rev. T. H. McAllister solemnized the wedding at Gorge Presbyterian Church.

Dirk Van Mannen sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

The bride entered the church on the arm of Gilbert Brown. She wore a ballerina-length gown of ecru lace over heirloom satin. Her crown headdress was fashioned of net, en tone, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds and white carnations. The groom's gift was a set of rhinestone necklace and earrings, which the bride wore to complete her ensemble.

Miss Edythe Taylor, bridesmaid, chose a ballerina-length gown of flamingo net over taffeta with matching headdress. She carried a colonial bouquet of green carnations. James Milne was best man.

A reception was held at the future home of the bride and groom, 2838 Colquitz Avenue. A three-tier wedding cake topped with rosebuds centred the bride's table. Dirk Van Mannen proposed the toast to the bride and telegrams from Scotland were read.

During the ceremony and reception, moving pictures with sound were taken to be sent to relatives in Scotland. For traveling, the bride wore a cerise afternoon dress with winter white topcoat and black accessories. She wore a corsage of cerise carnations.

Lake Hill Institute Re-Elects Officers

Directors re-elected for 1954 at annual meeting of Lake Hill Women's Institute are Mrs. Roscoe Myles, president; Mrs. R. W. Mercer, treasurer; Mrs. W. Carpenter, secretary; Mrs. L. Sekreve and Mrs. M. Cowan. Reports of year's work were heard and Dr. Marian Sherman read a report prepared by Mrs. A. Moffatt on possibility of bedside nursing in Saanich being re-established in the new year. It was emphatically agreed to support Brentwood Women's Institute and other Brentwood organizations in their plea to the Dominion government to take immediate steps to better living conditions on the Tsarlip Indian Reserve. Plans were made for a members' luncheon on December 21 at 12.30 p.m. in the institute room. Tea was served by the directors from a table decorated with Christmas roses. Mrs. F. Nuttall presided at the urns.

Order of a Merry Yuletide

Calendar of festive season events at the Empress Hotel includes two carol teas, a Christmas Eve dinner dance, traditional Christmas Day dinner, Boxing Day cold buffet, New Year's Eve ball and New Year's Day luncheon and a supper dance on Saturday, Jan. 2.

Afternoon tea will be served in the rotunda every afternoon during the holiday season.

First carol tea is planned for Wednesday, Dec. 23, from 3.30 to 5, when waitresses will be dressed in Kate Greenaway costumes of olden days and singers in Elizabeth costumes will present a special carol program.

The dinner dance on Christmas Eve, from 7.30 to midnight, will have special concert features.

Christmas morning at 9, waiters in picturesque array will salute the day in ancient song and carol as they stroll through the corridors and later sing again at the doorway to the main dining room at the breakfast hour.

Afternoon tea will be served Christmas afternoon in the main lounge and as twilight falls at 7 o'clock guests will again gather in the main hall for the firing of the Yule Log "with jester and with seneschel, with song and masque, with ceremony, pageantry and with much rejoicing."

Christmas dinner will follow, complete with colorful procession of trumpeters, carolers, and waiters carrying the great boar's head. At 9 p.m. there will be a Yuletide musicale in the lounge.

Second carol tea will be held in the Crystal Ballroom from 3.30 to 5 on Boxing Day. There will also be a cold buffet luncheon in the dining room from 12 noon until 2.30.

New Year's Eve ball will commence at 9 p.m. and continue until 2. On New Year's Day a special cold buffet luncheon will again be served from 12 to 2.30, in the main dining room, and a special New Year's Day dinner from 6 until 9 p.m. Concert music will be presented in the rotunda.

GIRL GUIDES

Luxton—A Christmas bazaar and tea was held by First Brownie pack, Happy Valley, in the Luxton Hall. There was a stall of Christmas novelties made by the girls and a home cooking stall. An enrollment ceremony was performed by Divisional Commissioner, Mrs. W. Emmerton, who enrolled Brownies, Carol Richardson, Sharon Bull, Sharon Doran, and Judy Peree. Mrs. E. Gardiner, Brown Owl and District Commissioner, assisted. Tea was served by the girls and each Brownie presented her mother with a hand-made gift. The $18 realized at the affair will be used to pay their assessment.

WCTU Formed 80 Years Ago

FREDONIA, N.Y. (UP) — Eighty years ago a band of gentle, cultured women from this tiny western New York village launched a crusade which spread across the land like wildfire and caused one of the greatest moral upheavals of the 19th century.

With the words of a Boston lecturer, Dr. Dio Lewis, ringing in their ears, these women—approximately 50 strong—marched from tavern to tavern in an effort to stamp out the sale of liquor. Accompanied by the jeers and jokes of the males of that day, these determined women continued their campaign until by Christmas, 1873, the whisky trade was eliminated.

Contrary to general belief, it was this tiny beginning which resulted in the foundation of the woman's Christian Temperance Union. In fact, the Fredonia women coined the name eleven months before national organization adopted it and several days before Dr. Lewis spoke at Hillsboro and Washington Court House, O., where temperance exploded into national prominence.

Like a prairie fire, it swept over the countryside, enlisting women from all walks of life. In 50 days, it drove the liquor traffic out of 300 towns and villages.

Today, the WCTU is an international organization with more than a million members in more than 50 countries.

Frozen concentrate for lemonade is an ideal punch base. Gives a refreshing tang when mixed with cranberry or berry juices, frozen orange or grape concentrates — and is delightful when mixed with wine or ginger ale.

Coconut Hard Sauce Adds Flavor To Steaming Hot Plum Pudding

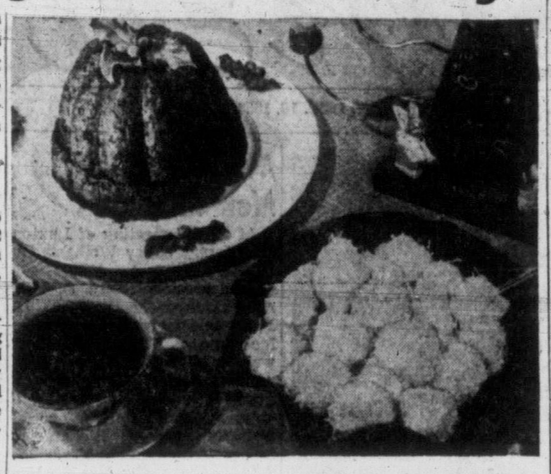
At a pre-Christmas party in New York recently a hostess served steaming plum pudding with chilled coconut hard sauce balls. You may want to try them on your hot Christmas pudding.

COCONUT HARD SAUCE BALLS

One-third cup butter, 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 2 teaspons brandy or ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup shredded coconut, cut.

Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Add brandy and beat well. Drop by teaspoon into coconut and roll into ¾-inch balls. Chill before serving. Serve with plum pudding. Makes 30 balls.

During the coming holiday's you may want to give a small dinner built around a very special dish. Here's one from Cuba. It comes from The Zaragozana, Havana's oldest restaurant — a really wonderful dish.



Coconut hard sauce adds something special to steaming holiday-season plum pudding. Sauce is easily made.

SHRIMP ZARAGOZANA

Two pounds fresh or frozen shrimp, uncooked; 1 onion, minced; 1 green pepper, minced; 6 tablespons butter or margarine, 1 No. 2½ can tomatoes, 2 tablespoons parsley flakes, 2 Cloves garlic, 4 cubes bouillon dissolved in 2 cups boiling water, 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped.

Clean shrimp but do not cook. Saute onion and pepper in butter or margarine until brown. Add tomatoes, parsley flakes, garlic, bouillon and simmer for 35 minutes. Remove garlic cloves. Saute shrimp in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in separate pan, 3 to 5 minutes or until delicately pink. Add sauted shrimp to sauce. Sprinkle with chopped eggs and serve with rice. Makes six servings.

CHRISTMAS EVE DINNER: Fruit cup, shrimp Zaragozana, steamed rice, green beans, crusty rolls, butter or margarine, celery and cucumber sticks, apple pie, cheese, coffee, milk.

Have White Christmas

NEW YORK (NEA)—Before long the country will be "dreaming of a white Christmas." And regardless of where you live or what the weatherman predicts, you can make the dream come true. Imagination and soapsuds are all it takes.

With soap snow splashed on the mantel, windows, doorway, and mirrors as well as on the wreaths and tree, you'll have a magical winter wonderland, and no disappointment come rain or sunshine Christmas morn.

Half the fun of holiday decorations is in the makings. So make it a family activity. If the youngsters carry their snow spreading beyond limits or ruin the artwork, the soapsuds can be erased with a damp cloth.

Many of the furnishings and accessories in your home will take on a festive Yuletide air when they've been dabbed with homemade snow. A glass-topped table spattered on the underside with snow would make a lovely setting for a gift pile.

Sprinkled with snowflakes, a fruit centrepiece will take on the holiday mood. Glass doors are wonderful backgrounds for soap snow scenes.

Making the snow is a simple process. Two tablespoons of soap flakes powder added to a small amount of water and beaten with a rotary egg beater or electric mixer will give you a good start. Keep adding soap until you have a thick, meringue-like mass that will mold easily. Apply with a wooden spoon for trimming purposes, using a very light touch.

If your Christmas greens are not green, you might try colored snow. A silver tree dotted with red snow, for example, would lend an exotic touch to your decorating. Pale pink snow on a blue tree is another interesting combination.

To make the colored snow, add vegetable coloring, mixing several drops into the suds bowl batter.

When decorating the tree, you will find it easier to work from the top down. Dripping snow will fall gracefully on the underbranches, adding a realistic touch.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

If baby seems to balk at this first spoonful or two of cereal it might be the new texture is too thick. Try thinning the cereal with enough milk or formula until you have a "soupy" mixture. This makes the texture a little more familiar to baby and easier for him to swallow.

• • •

Cereal cue! When it comes to selecting those so-important starting cereals for baby try Gerber's Cereals. Millions of mothers have discovered that most babies take to the bland, pleasant flavors, the smooth texture right from the start. Even more important, Gerber's Cereals are enriched with calcium, iron and B-Vitamins. Gerber's Cereals are precooked and ready to serve! Just add milk or formula. For interest rotate: Mixed, Rice, Barley, Oatmeal and Wheat Cereals.

• • •

Beauty balm. While beautifying that little one with baby oil, smart mothers remember to steal a few drops for hands and elbows. Keeps hands nice for holding baby, for being held by dad.

• • •

More beauty business. Baby oil is most beneficial too, for unruly hair. After washing, a few drops massaged into damp hair helps make it soft, manageable.

• • •

A treat in store for you mothers with "teething" babies! Gerber's now have ready for you their famous Teething Biscuits—so helpful for this trying time. Baby gets plenty of chewing satisfaction from firm Gerber's Teething Biscuits—yet they're smooth, gentle for tender gums. Special shape is easy for little hands to hold. Nice for you, too—they don't fall apart so there's no mess. Teething Biscuits come individually wrapped—so convenient to tuck into your purse when you take baby out.

Servimus Group Holiday Meeting

Ladies Parlor of Metropolitan United Church was decorated by Mrs. W. C. Gordon for the Christmas meeting of Servimus Group. A program of Christmas carols and readings was in charge of Mrs. E. R. Bewell, who also directed the scene from Dickens' "Christmas Carol," which took the form of a radio broadcast entitled "The Dream." Mrs. Gordon was commentator, and those taking part were Mesdames W. Muncy, E. Woodward, P. Bewell, W. H. Yardley, H. C. Kinghorn, W. Vey, G. A. A. Hebden and G. W. Robinson.

Hostesses for the tea hour were Mesdames W. S. Smith, H. V. Knowles, W. C. Gordon, A. M. Holder and R. Hetherington, with Mrs. A. H. Adams and Mrs. A. H. F. Stelck pouring tea.

Officers for 1954 were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Archie Wills, pro tem Mrs. O. H. Lamont; vice-president, Mrs. A. H. Adams; secretary, Mrs. J. R. H. Pipes; treasurer, Mrs. F. Lesby; visiting and flowers, Mrs. Pearl Bewell; membership, Mrs. F. Kermode; WA social, Mrs. C. W. Gordon; group refreshment, Mrs. R. A. Heater; parlor, Mrs. B. T. Leigh; press, Mrs. F. V. Shoemaker.

Tory Move to Broaden New Anti-Dumping Law Defeated

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Tuesday defeated a Progressive Conservative move to broaden the government's new anti-dumping legislation.

Members rejected two amendments by Donald Fleming (PC, Toronto-Eglinton) to apply the measure to all goods, not merely manufactured goods, and extend operation throughout the year.

The bill would deal with sharp seasonal cuts in imported manufactured goods by providing for an appraisal for customs duty purposes. This appraisal would be of a "weighted average" price based on prices for the goods in the country of origin up to six months prior to the date of import.

Provisions of the bill went into effect last Tuesday, aimed chiefly at cut-rate United States textile imports. It provided for a customs appraisal when import prices drop to below-normal

Two More Meetings For Council in 1953

City Council has only two more meetings scheduled for this year.

Council's next meeting will be held Thursday at 2. First item will be the hearing of any protests against the application by Canada Safeway Ltd. to have property on Fifth Street rezoned from residential to commercial area, to allow a new super market to be built in the centre of the block bounded by Fifth, Kings, Quadra and Hillside.

Council's final meeting of the year has been set by Mayor Claude Harrison for Monday, Dec. 28.

Belgian Rifles May Replace Canucks' .303

OTTAWA (CP)—Science and the marching years are about to break up an old and trusted partnership—the Canadian soldier and his .303 rifle.

This became apparent after announcement Tuesday in the Commons that Canada and four other major North Atlantic treaty countries have agreed to the standardization of small-arms ammunition. Their choice: the 7.62-round, known better to Canadians as the .30-calibre.

Canada and the United Kingdom at the moment have no rifle to fire the new ammunition. This means they must choose one, and it probably will be Belgium's "fabrique nationale."

Associate defense minister Campney, announcing the agreement among Canada, the United Kingdom, the United States, France, and Belgium, said the Canadian army has ordered "a number" of the fabrique nationale rifles.

But an ordnance expert said it might take as much as four years to completely re-equip the army with any new rifle produced in Canada. Observers believed that, should the decision go to the fabrique nationale, it would have to be made in this country.

It was 57 years ago this Christmas that the .303 rifle was introduced to the Canadian soldier. The model at that time was the Lee Enfield "long."

Col. C. P. Stacey, army historian, said that until 1895, Canadian soldiers used the ancient .45-calibre Snyder, first issued to them in the Fenian raids of the 1830s.

3,000 Paris Students Riot Over Budget Cut

PARIS (Reuters) — Nearly 3,000 students, many of them blood-spattered after a clash with police, roamed the streets Tuesday night calling on French Education Minister Andre Marie to resign.

Another 380 students were in jail. They were arrested by the police after a bloody demonstration against proposed cuts in the government education budget.

The education ministry recently proposed to spend 170,000,000 francs ($485,000) for "social development" which include student canteens and accommodation— instead of the 1,500,000,000 francs ($4,285,000) proposed by education experts.

More than 1,000 policemen and security guards armed with rifles were mobilized to handle the students at the height of the disturbance.

GALLUP POLL OF CANADA

Belief in God Overwhelmingly Averred

When public opinion in Canada or United States is polled on the question: "Do You Believe in God," the answer is inevitably an overwhelming "Yes," amounting to 98 or 99 per cent of those sampled. As the great religious festival of Christmas approaches, the Canadian Institute probed a little deeper into Canadian opinion in an attempt to assess what kind of God it is people believe in.

To do this, experienced opinion reporters living in some 200 areas stretched across Canada, approached the issue in this manner—a technique which had previously been thoroughly tested:

Respondents were handed a printed card, and asked:

"Here's a very different sort of question. Which of the statements on this card comes closest to describing the way you feel about the existence of God?"

On the card, the essence of various concepts of God was couched in simplest possible terms. Here they are, together with the percentage of the public which selected each one:

"A loving Father who looks after us"	75%
"A sort of mechanical principle, or law, governing the world"	6
"Some kind of intelligent, supernatural being not concerned with our personal problems"	7
"God does exist"	1
"Other description"	5
"Can't describe" or "don't know"	6
	100%

Admittedly, there is an infinite number of other descriptions which could have been used in this study, but in view of the fact that the Institute's cross-section covers all types of people, educated and uneducated, articulate and inarticulate, it was felt that the above represented the main channels of thought.

One of the interesting things about the findings is that from 21 years of age up to 49 years of age, various age groups think very much alike. In other words, there is no evidence of more materialism among the younger generation than among the middle age group. However, in the group 50 years of age and over, a higher percentage were found who looked on God as a loving Father, fewer who thought of Him as a mechanical principle, or a supernatural being not concerned with the life of the individual.

Views of those who classify themselves as Protestants and Roman Catholics compare as follows:

	Protestants	Roman Catholics
A loving Father	72%	84%
Mechanical principle	7	2
Unconcerned supernatural being	8	5
Doesn't exist	1	*
Other description	5	4
Don't know; can't describe	7	5
	100%	100%

*Less than 1%.

Many of the other descriptions offered were combinations of the definitions printed on the card. Others looked on man himself as divine, and felt, therefore, that God was Mankind.

While philosophers, theologians, and others may argue about the wording used in this study as perhaps lacking in finer shadings, the results do seem to indicate that in spite of the much-mooted "mechanistic materialism" of the age, an overwhelming majority of Canadians do believe in the existence of God, and of these, the great majority see Him as their fathers saw Him — "a loving Father who looks after us."

BRITISH BROWS BEETLED

Noble Steeds Still Being Bled to Provide 'Veal'?

LONDON (CP) — British authorities still are divided on whether horses are being bled to death to provide restaurants with white meat resembling veal.

The issue was revived in a BBC broadcast, "Horses Can't Talk." An Irish horse dealer, later identified as J. C. Brady of Tara, County Meath, claimed that the horses were bled to death by a device known as the electric pump.

Brady said this happened at a slaughter house near London.

In a statement November 30, the Horses and Ponies Protection Association said the charges made by Brady were justified. It said the electric pump is also being used secretly in the Midlands and north of England.

The Daily Telegraph, on the other hand, quoted a veterinary surgeon as saying he was "quite certain" no such cruelty took place in Britain. Even if the pump were used, the veterinary said, the horse would remain alive or conscious only a few seconds.

The pump question came to the forefront in November, 1952, after a series of articles on horse slaughtering written in The Manchester Guardian by Patrick Keatley of Vancouver, a young newspaper man here on an exchange plan.

'EXPLORING MUSIC'

Gruber to Give One of Two New Night College Courses

After Christmas, Hans Gruber, busy musical director of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, will extend his activities to Victoria College, where he will present a series of lectures in the Evening Division under the title, "Exploring Music."

This will be one of two new courses included in the second half of the winter semester. The second, to be conducted by Professor Roger Bishop, will deal with "Novels to Enjoy." It is a repetition of one given by Professor Bishop during 1951-52 sessions, and is designed to pave the way for enjoyment of great novels of the past—Defoe, Fielding, Sterne, Trollope, Emily Bronte.

The course consists of 12 weekly sessions to take place Thursday evenings, commencing Thursday, Jan. 14, from 8 to 9.30 p.m.

CAN BE FUN

Much treasure of wit and wisdom is laid up within the pages of these books commonly regarded as "heavy" reading. For those who have not made the acquaintance of these sterling friends, Professor Bishop will provide a lively introduction.

Mr. Gruber's quiet, keen humor and his deep musical knowledge will be brought to bear on the project of sharpening listener-enjoyment and appreciation. His 12 weekly sessions on orchestral music from the time of Bach to the present day, will place special emphasis on music to be heard in the remaining concerts of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra this season. His first lecture will be given Tuesday, Jan. 12, from 8 to 9.30 p.m.

City Jaycees to Staff Permanent Town Office

A downtown office will soon be opened by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, president Jack Ledger announced Tuesday.

Hours for the Jaycee office will be 12 to 4 p.m. Monday to Friday and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

JAZZ FANS GET FREE TREAT

Gordon King's Big Band Plays for Faithful 400

More than 400 faithful adherents to the cause of modern music kicked off the festive season Tuesday night at a free concert of arranged jazz at the Victoria Ballroom.

The jazz fans were guests of Local 247, American Federation of Musicians, and Gordon King's big concert band.

The free show was presented under the auspices of the AFM musicians' trust fund which permits North American musicians to play live shows with trust money from record sales.

The local boys pleased, to say the least. Particularly impressive were the blend and tidiness of the reed and brass and the clean rhythm section work in Charlie Barnet's "Skylark."

The band did an outstanding job on Les Brown's seasonal arrangement of "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm" and "How High the Moon," the national anthem of jazz lovers.

The young musicians even tackled such difficult things as Stan Kenton's "Artistry in Bolero." They probably met their match here, but their confidence was not shaken.

Another concert, this one to cost $1, will be held January 19 with CBC's disc jockey Bob Smith as master of ceremonies.

BITES BROTHER, JAILED

BOLZANO, Italy (AP)—Giuseppe Prantner was sentenced Tuesday to two years in jail for biting off his elder brother's nose. Giuseppe's defense was that he just got biting mad when his brother sneaked some choice logs out of Giuseppe's woodpile.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class)
A (Don't Miss)
BB (Worthwhile)
(B For Rainy Days)
C (To put in time)

(B) "THE MOONLIGHTER" (Capitol): There could be no more glaring example of how poor stories have harmed, possibly for years, three-dimensional movies than Warner Bros. "The Moonlighter."

When the much-publicized 3-D's made their debut last spring with "B'wana Devil" one could shrug the story aside in the interest of viewing pictures with depth. One could say, "Let's wait. This is but the beginning." Only months later, however, after viewing hastily contrived motion pictures with unknown casts sent out to collect the public's money, one must think "Is this the end?"

Hollywood, alarmed by the falling off of attendance (and money) at their rush-rush jobs have been building up their flimsy plots by heading the casts with "name" stars in an effort to overcome the general apathy. But even such veteran screen stars as Miss Barbara Stanwyck and Fred MacMurray, aided by solid supporting players like Ward Bond and William Ching, cannot overcome the inherent story weaknesses of "The Moonlighter."

The plot (what there is of it) in brief:

MacMurray is a man whose love of adventure leads him into trouble with the law. He is a "moonlighter," a cattle rustler who steals cattle under the bright of the moon with a lasso. MacMurray is caught and is about to be strung up when the vigilantes break into the jail for him but hang the wrong man. The woman waiting for him is Miss Stanwyck who gets so gol-durn mad at his nastiness that she gets herself sworn in as a deputy sheriff and goes out to hunt him down at rifle point. And oh law-de-da you'll never guess what happens then.

Pity of it all is that if we had been given our 3-D's more slowly, say of the calibre of "Shane," "The Cruel Sea," "Lili," and so on the "flaties" would be dead as a dodo.

Even so, in spite of all that has come to us to date, three-dimensional movies are here to stay. No doubt it will be a variation of "Cinema Scope." Let's be patient, they will awake soon and give us the good pictures and depth to boot.

Expropriation Puts Vancouver In Pub Business

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver city is going into the beer parlor business for what it hopes will be a brief, and profitable period.

A special council session Tuesday voted to expropriate the beer parlor of the Cecil hotel and the Grand Cafe. Property on which they stand is needed for the new Granville Street bridge.

Council said alterations will be made to the beer parlor and cafe so that business can still be carried on in them. It is estimated the city will have to pay about $450,000 under expropriation proceedings. They will be put up for sale once alterations are completed with the present owners having first bid.

'MEMORABLE'

St. Barnabas Nativity Play In Seventh Year

St. Barnabas Church Players gave the first of four performances of their seventh annual presentation of the Nativity play Tuesday evening.

For the audience of 130 it was an impressive and memorable performance, unfolding simply but effectively the story of the birth of Christ. It will be repeated tonight, Thursday and Friday.

The play follows the traditional pageant form. Twenty-two persons take acting parts and a choir and soloists are heard but not seen.

Because of its religious nature, all performers remained anonymous. The play was introduced as "a gift to God and an expression of love."

Characters portrayed are the Virgin Mary, Joseph, Archangel Gabriel, the Three Wise Men, Elizabeth, Zacharias, Anna, Simeon, Rachael, Justice, Mercy, three shepherds, a king's page, Mother Church and a young Christian.

Admission to the three remaining performances is by program only. Programs may be obtained through the Marionette Library.

Lorne Greene's Big Chance In Broadway Debut Tonight

By BILL HARCOURT

NEW YORK (CP)—A Canadian actor makes his Broadway debut tonight in a role that should come naturally to him. It was his real-life job for many years.

Lorne Greene, one of Canada's best known radio personalities and a news broadcaster from 'way back, plays the part of a news commentator — Katharine Cornell's leading man—in "The Prescott Proposals," by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse.

The play produced by Leland Hayward of "South Pacific" note, concerns some recommendations made in the United Nations by an American delegate, Mary Prescott, Miss Cornell, and the complications that they touch off.

WASHINGTON TRY-OUT

The play has just completed a two-week pre-Broadway run in Washington where critical reaction was favorable.

But whether Greene will receive a long Broadway run as a Christmas present—and for an actor what could be better?—depends on the New York critics.

Ottawa-born Greene began acting while a language student at Queen's University at Kingston, Ont. He was good enough then to win two years' theatrical training in New York after graduation.

But when he came back to Canada he found theatre work hard to come by so he turned radio announcer. In a few years he was a well-known announcer and an established radio actor.

LORNE GREENE

On a trip to New York last May, Greene ran into a friend and fellow Canadian, Vancouver-born Fletcher Markle, then producer of the CBS TV drama show Studio One.

Markle gave Greene a role in a current production. Last October Greene returned to Studio One to play the lead in an adaptation of George Orwell's "1984." His performance attracted attention.

While waiting for his plane home the following day, he received a hurried call to audition for a part in "The Prescott Proposals." He had read several scenes when Miss Cornell said: "This is it. This is the man we want."

YWCA Glee Club Singing Touched With Reverence and Mysticism

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

A program which director Mary Wood hoped the capacity audience "had not found too serious" shone with both familiar and less well known gems of Christmas music, Tuesday night, as the YWCA Glee Club with soloists and guest artist presented their annual Christmas concert.

Their sponsors were the Fairfield United Church Men's Club and proceeds of the event, held at the church, will be devoted to the redecoration fund and YWCA World Service.

The spirit in which the music was approached and performed made the concert a Christmas festival imbued with reverence and that rare quality of mysticism.

Fine old carols and hymns, some in clever, modern arrangements; masterpieces of song by ancient and modern composers, comprised the program.

Choir and ensemble have a delectable tonal quality, full, yet delicate and pure. And they have, an unusual trait in female voice choirs—a certain variety in texture. There is brightness and brilliance when Mrs. Wood wishes to pull out that stop, as in the interesting Hoggard arrangement of "O Come All Ye Faithful." Then again, there is the distilled essence of vocal sound—the woodwind tone—such as was heard in "O Lovely Night." Yet again, there is a deep, lush, velvetyness when the harmonic structure thickens.

Their phrasing is well modeled and graceful most of the time, their diction is distinct and their faces are happy, which in itself is a factor for success in performance.

GUEST SOLOIST

Roberto Wood was guest artist and his fine baritone brought a pleasing contrast into the evening. His ease, his complete control and smoothness of production, and the taste with which he invests his singing, are among his outstanding attributes.

From the boistrous "Blow, Blow Thou Winter Wind," to the lovely mezzo voice of Brahm's Cradle Song, each item was touched with the keen intuition of the genuine artist.

Three members of the choir sang solos, giving an example of the calibre of individual voices making up the organization. The young songstresses showed more than average talent underlying excellent placing and good breath control. They were Marjorie Smyth, Kitty Dixon and Shirley Main.

Accompanist for the choir was Miss Martha Ferguson. Mr. Wood was accompanied by Mrs. Wood. Rev. W. Allan opened the program with prayers and thanked the artists at the conclusion.

Rhee Would Extend Time Limit on Korea Armistice

SEOUL, Korea (Reuters) — South Korean President Syngman Rhee today reversed himself and extended his time limit for observing the Korean armistice agreement.

He told a press conference South Korea would observe the armistice for 90 days after the start of a Korean political conference, regardless of when it convenes.

5 CARDS OF THANKS

At some time or other the thought that we would suffer the loss of a loving wife and mother occurred to us, but we little realized the extent of sympathetic understanding that would exist. We are more grateful than words can express to all the nurses at Clevelly Private Hospital and Dr. Horton. Our gratitude to Mr. L. E. Wallace, Mr. J. Gilmour, Victoria, and Mr. W. Wilson, Vancouver, who conducted messages of comfort.—Mr. F. G. Alcock and family, Box 989, Alberni, B.C.

(Port Alberni Advocate and Province of Vancouver, and Vancouver Sun, please copy.)

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

When you're playing regular rubber bridge you don't have to win every possible trick. Your main objective is to make your contract. Only when that is assured should you pay much attention to possible overtricks. South lost sight of this elementary fact in the hand shown today.

West opened the singleton queen of clubs only because he couldn't develop any fondness for any other lead. He was afraid that a trump lead would give declarer a free finesse; the diamonds were obviously a good suit to stay away from, and there was nothing attractive about leading away from the king of hearts.

Singletons as high as the queen are seldom picked for the opening lead, but in this case it seemed to be the least of evils.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace and should have gone right after his contract by drawing trumps and giving up two club tricks to the king and jack. He would make a total of six trump tricks and two clubs.

Instead, South decided to go adventuring after extra tricks. He led a heart from the dummy at the second trick. It looked safe enough to try for a heart ruff in dummy, but this one little slip was enough to defeat him.

East hopped up with the ace of hearts to cash his high clubs and then give West a club ruff. This took away from declarer what should have been his second club trick.

West then returned a trump. Declarer won with dummy's king and led another heart, hoping to develop either a heart trick or a ruff in dummy. Neither developed, for West was able to win the second round of hearts and lead another trump. This limited declarer to six trump tricks and the ace of clubs.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

By BILL PARKER

At 6 o'clock this evening, television aerials on Vancouver Island and in Vancouver will all face Mount Seymour and bow (politely) three times!

Station CBUT will be "on the air."

Televiewers on the lower mainland and in Victoria have long awaited a Canadian television station. Now, at last, the waiting is over.

At 6, A. Davidson Dunton, chairman of the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, will set the wheels in motion and transmission will begin.

Close to 200 guests and newspaper men will witness the event from Vancouver, and countless thousands of TV fans will see the results on their screens.

A peek at the advance notices of CBUT's opening night schedules shows plenty of variety.

There will be official greetings from eastern Canadian TV stations; Toronto will provide a musical show featuring many former Vancouverites and directed by Norman Campbell, well known on this coast for his work in radio and on the stage.

The BBC, England's nationally-owned radio and television network, will lend a helping hand, headlined by Vancouver's popular Bernie and Angela Braden.

The first regular CBUT newscast will be shown, with films from all over the world and also local "on-the-spot" coverege.

CBC Theatre is another program that will be featured, allowing viewers a visual taste of some of Canada's better known actors.

A National Film Board presentation, "Window on Canada," narrated by Clyde Gilmour, will hold the spotlight for half an hour each week.

Finally, a specialty about which we'll say nothing, will be "Uncle Chichimus," whose fame will probably spread very quickly.

I'll have further news about Vancouver television as I receive it. Until then, may I join with everyone else, rival TV stations, radio companies, television dealers, and the general public, in wishing CBUT, Vancouver, the very best of luck.

HIGHLIGHTS FOR TONIGHT

Salute to CBUT on radio station CBU at 6.15.

The Hand and the Mirror on CBU at 9.

J. M. WOOD

Has been in the automobile business for the past 47 years. Our policy has been and still is to give you 100% service and square dealings, and above all else to treat you as you would like to be treated by others.

We are not going to promise you any cash refunds or special Christmas presents, it can't be done. No dealer can stay in business and give you something for nothing. Remember, you as the buyer will have to pay for it in higher interest rates or money spent on repairs.

We guarantee our cars to be reconditioned and sold to you with our written guarantee.

FROM MISSOURI?
Experts claim that 80% of purchases are made through eye appeal. So, why not let me show you the particularly fine selection of family homes we have at present. Four-bedroom homes in Oak Bay, Lake Hill, Esquimalt. Three-bedroom in Oak Bay and High Quadra. Some are extra good values if bought quickly. There is no obligation, no high pressure. A purchaser should look carefully at many homes before deciding, and a good salesman realizes this and is glad to show at any and all times at your convenience. Give me that privilege by calling Mr. Cleary, G 7171; Home, G 2505.

HAGAR'S
OAK BAY
On Cavendish Avenue, just off Beach Drive, we have one of the finest homes presently listed for sale in Victoria. Thirteen years old, architect planned, and built by a contractor for his own home, this house is the superlative in design for those who require a two-bedroom home of Tudor design with leaded windows and with roll shingle roof, set amidst lawns and shrubs. Its impressive entrance hall, 10 x 10, leads to all rooms and serves as a gracious reception area. Living room, 18 x 16, has tiled fireplace, walnut mantel, and built-in bookcases. Dining room, 14 x 12 feet, has sideboard recess and twin built-in walnut cabinets. Master bedroom with wall-to-wall flowered broadloom is 12 ft. 6 in. x 12 ft. 6 in., and second bedroom is 12 ft. x 12 ft. All rooms floored with first grade oak. Well-planned bathroom is four-piece with pedestal basin, built-in features and tiled floor. The kitchen could not be improved—tiled sink with twin basins, built-in garburator and electric dishwasher, cupboards just where you want them, and a cosy breakfast nook looking over the nicest back garden in Oak Bay. Full high cement basement has cedar-lined rumpus room, storage space, air-conditioned Oil-O-Matic hot-air furnace and a brand-new electric domestic hot-water heater.
This home is ready to move into without raising a finger. The interior was redecorated throughout this summer and the exterior trim repainted this fall.
THIS IS A HOUSE YOU WOULD BE PROUD TO CALL YOUR HOME.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1953

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Matters connected with your budget, expenses, income for next year can wisely occupy your time, attention, today. Think over property matters, then listen to your hunches, for they are good.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Take as much time as you like today mulling over exactly what you want in the future and just how you'd like to have it. Then assist all others who look to you for aid.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Dynamic, wideawake friends will give you lots of suggestion for quietly making your existence more efficient, happier by making your environment charming, filled with useable gadgets.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Meticulousness in reducing all your ambitions to precise particulars will make possible much quicker attainment. Make it a point to put down in black and white the best methods.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Forget those big, grandiloquent plans. Get every item connected with your credit rating, duties to the general public, obligations to rules, regulations, laws right. Be careful.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Now you have that long-awaited chance to delve into data unavailable to you before. Make sure you sit down, ask questions of experts with different experience from yours.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Finding out what others expect of you in ways associated with romantic, monetary matters is aided by doing some little courtesy to another in special manner that pleases.

SCORPIO Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Take time out to seek ways to cement bonds of attachment in partnerships. Little courtesies also replace opposition that's been building up in one looking for something to crab about; disarm kindly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Getting down to that accumulated pile of odds and ends frees time later which will be needed for vital concerns that bring opportunities to forge ahead. Keep very active.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Get up early, have haircuts, beauty treatments, manicures — whatever makes your personal appearance more magnetic. Then accept surprise invitation to delightful party.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Furrow your brow a bit of shoddy conditions at home requiring repair, especially closets, plumbing, art objects, clothing. Seek better diet to improve health, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Shopping, traveling, corresponding, fixing your car or other transportation problems are all accomplished more quickly than you had thought possible. Co-operate with co-workers.

FATHER SAYS 2-HEADED BABY NOT FOR CIRCUS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP)—The father of a two-headed baby said today he had been contacted by a "circus man" regarding the infant, but rejected the overture. He previously had appealed for financial help in caring for his other five children.

"I'm a poor man," the father said. "I've always been a poor man, but I have always been able to take care of my own children . . . just because this one is different it's no exception. I don't need anybody like a circus man to help me."

He said he signed two names on one birth certificate.

He said the name Donald Ray was chosen "for the best one, the one they think will live," and Daniel Kaye for the other.

Doctors said the condition of the child remained satisfactory, although still listed routinely as critical.

"Progress of the infant since admission to the hospital has been that of a normal newborn," they said.

Union Takes School Board Into Court

ARMSTRONG, B.C. (CP)—Charges of discrimination laid by the Okanagan Valley School Employees' Union (TLC), Local 323, against the board of trustees of School District 21, Armstrong, will be heard in magistrate's court here Friday.

It is understood that the charges on nine different counts have been presented against both the board and its chairman, L. W. Wood. The charge is being brought by the union under the Industrial Conciliation Arbitration Act, alleging that the board refused to bargain with the union after it had been certified as bargaining agent for the employees affected.

Early this fall employees instituted a two-day strike. The board took necessary action to maintain services affected and after two days of picketing striking members asked for discussion with the board to effect a solution.

The result of this was that the employees agreed to resign from the union and return to their jobs. They were accepted back and have been working since that time.

'Call-Girl' Racket Exposed in Vancouver

Police Chief Admits Helplessness to Fight Vice Ring Because of Lack of Evidence

VANCOUV7R (CP)—Existence of a large-scale "call-girl" racket here was disclosed by the Vancouver Province in a front-page story Tuesday and police chief Walter Mulligan says his force is virtually unable to stamp it out.

"We know that these women are operating, we know they are definitely 'in business' but they are careful and operate with such tact, that nabbing them in the act is a tremendous job," the chief said.

"It is almost impossible to get the evidence so necessary to convict."

The Province story, by reporters Clare Anderson and Ray Munro, said the call girl system is a new pattern in the "fabric of commercialized immorality."

Girls are called by telephone, or picked up by a car, and taken to hotels or apartments or whereever a rendezvous is arranged.

The reporters said they talked with one girl who admitted "quite cheerfully that she was a call girl." She told them that she made 27 "visits" last week and on two calls between 4 p.m. and midnight Friday was paid $70.

After a few experiences with bullies "who stole my money and beat me" she acquired a taxi-driver who acts as her "friend and protector."

"One of the things that leaves us absolutely up in the air about the whole thing," Chief Mulligan said, "is that a certain percentage of call girls are not professional prostitutes in the accepted sense.

"They are business girls and, believe it or not, housewives."

Record-Breaking Lakes Season Closes

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—The ice-covered freighter Mohawk Deer passed through the Soo locks at 12.12 a.m. today to close a record-breaking navigation year on the Great Lakes. Both the U.S. and Canadian locks now are closed for the winter.

Corps of Engineers spokesmen said an unofficial cargo record of 128,431,000 tons passed through the locks this year — more than 8,000,000 tons over the previous record year of 1942.

Gouzenko Interview Dropped Temporarily

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States Senate spy hunters resumed public hearings today, following surprise announcement that efforts to interview Igor Gouzenko, former Soviet code clerk, in Canada are being dropped temporarily.

Robert Morris, subcommittee counsel, said Tuesday the group so far has been unable to make any final arrangements with the Canadian government.

Ontario Triplets Said 'Doing Nicely'

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (BUP)—Plant worker Jack Ashcroft looked for a larger home today after his 27-year-old wife gave birth to triplets who were reported "doing nicely" in an incubator at Niagara general hospital.

The trio, two boys and one girl, were born prematurely late Tuesday afternoon to Mrs. Alice Ashcroft.

They weighed two pounds each. The Ashcrofts have two other daughters, Jacklyn, five, and Carol Anne, three.

Red China Bosses May Invade Asia With Burma Target

SINGAPORE (AP)—Reports from behind the Bamboo Curtain indicate China's Communist bosses have made plans for invasion of southeast Asia, with Burma as the first target.

Observers who regularly monitor Chinese Red broadcasts say Laos, in Indo-China, and Thailand are other invasion targets after Burma. To coincide with the main Red push, Communist agents in Indonesia and the Philippines would step up campaigns to create internal disorder. No dates have been mentioned.

Ottawa Taxing B.C. More, Bennett Argues

Premier Bases Claim for Federal Sharing Of Development Costs on Ottawa's Take

By GORDON FORBES
Times Legislative Reporter

"Substantially higher" tax collections by Ottawa in B.C. justify this province's request for federal government participation in a $238,000,000 economic expansion program.

This was one of the main arguments used by Premier W. A. C. Bennett Monday when he met Prime Minister St. Laurent and members of the federal cabinet in Ottawa.

He wants Ottawa to share in the cost of enlarging B.C. rail, highway and forest conservation facilities.

PER CAPITA RISE

The premier showed that per capital federal tax collections in B.C. (corporation and personal income taxes and succession duties) in 1951-52 were $199.88 and in 1952-53 $211.14.

This compared to $152.74 and $175.42 per capita for the same years as an average for Canada as a whole.

In 1952-53 individual income tax collections in B.C. totalled $102.59 per capita, compared to $82.89 for the Canadian average.

In 1951-52 collections of corporation and personal income taxes and succession duties in B.C. by Ottawa totalled $239,463,705 — $23,000,000 more than the total collected from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Tax collections in the four maritime provinces were equal to only 37 per cent of collections in B.C.

Premier Bennett pointed out that B.C.'s population has increased 55 per cent since 1939 to 1,230,000 in 1953.

"The implications in terms of government services and expenditures are clear," he said.

He said provincial government expenditures in 1940 totalled $29,400,000, and this year will be an estimated $145,400,000.

"The increases occurred principally in the costs of health, welfare and education, reflecting population growth, and in expenditures on highways and the public domain, reflecting rapid economic expansion based upon the developments of natural resources," said Premier Bennett.

NET VALUE SOARS

He said net value of production in the province has increased from $286,400,000 in 1940 to $1,125,000,000 in 1951.

The premier recalled that at the 1945-46 Dominon-Provincial Conference on reconstruction the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King opened the conference by saying:

"What then are the aims or objectives for which we are seeking the best possible Dominion-Provincial relations? To express them, also very briefly, we are asking the provinces to go into partnership with the Dominion in a broad program for the development of our national heritage, and the promotion of the welfare of the Canadian people."

Concluded Premier Bennett: "It is such a partnership that B.C. now proposes to the government of Canada."

Sir Edmund and Lady Hillary.

Everest Conqueror to Probe Wildest Region of Himalayas

By J. C. GRAHAM

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—Everest conqueror Sir Edmund Hillary will be back in the Himalayas between April and June of 1954 leading a New Zealand expedition.

Originally it was planned to climb Mount Makalu, 27,790 feet, the world's fourth highest peak, but a United States party has obtained prior permission to attempt the climb.

The New Zealanders then decided to explore Barun valley, one of the wildest and most spectacular regions in the world, which has been visited by only four Europeans. They are Hillary himself, George Lowe and Charles Evans, members of the recent successful Everest party, and Eric Shipton, leader of the 1952 British Himalayan team. These four forced a passage back to India through the Barun valley in 1952.

It is believed that Hillary plans to attack several unclimbed and almost unknown peaks of more than 20,000 feet which were sighted by the party during the previous visit. Much of the valley is still unexplored.

Lowe, a fellow New Zealander, and Evans, an English doctor, have joined the expedition which will include six other New Zealanders and an Englishman not yet selected.

'OUT OF THIS WORLD'

Intrepid Priest Safe In North Wasteland

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (BUP)—A shy little French priest, legendary for close brushes with death in the Canadian Arctic, Tuesday night was reported safe once again after it was feared he had died from starvation.

Rev. Pierre Lessard of the Oblate Fathers here said an urgent radio message had brought assurance that Father Joseph A. Buliard was "alive and well."

Father Buliard, who has not received any supplies for a year, was able to get a message through to here today that he was "alive and well. I don't need supplies urgently."

It was just one of many examples of the way the intrepid Catholic missionary had survived astounding hardships of life in the bleak, sub-zero barrens of the Canadian northland.

The intrepid missionary was walking on ice far off the shoreline of the Arctic coast of Canada in 1939 when it broke. He was in the water for an hour before he could climb out to safety. It was his first trip into the Canadian northland.

He trekked back to the mission and collapsed, explaining: "I would walk a little way and fall, and then get up and walk again."

His hands were badly frozen, and gangrene set in. It was a month before he was flown to hospital at Winnipeg. But shortly after he was back with his friends and parishioners, the Eskimos.

Three years later emergency messages came out of the north. Father Buliard was lost again, perhaps dead for seven months.

A search plane finally found him, traveling as one of the family with a band of hunting Eskimos. Rushed to hospital again, he explained it was "tough, a very tough time, but nothing out of the ordinary."

"He lost medical supplies when the aircraft carrying them was wrecked in high winds," Father Lessard said. "So Father Buliard was compelled to carry on without even cough syrup for the children.

"When his finger and nose festered from the severe freezing they received, he was compelled to sacrifice the lining of his cassock for bandages.

"Later an Eskimo woman gave him her only dress for a bandage. She was treasuring it for summer use. They love him."

It was four months before his frozen hands and legs healed, and he was able to establish the new mission at Garry Lake.

"The man is out of this world," a co-worker said in Winnipeg today. "He'll put on his winter cassock and someone will ask him where he's going, and he'll say to visit some people 100 miles away.

"And he'll do it."

COMINCO MEN REJECT WORK REDUCTION

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Workers at the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company plant here have turned down a union proposal to reduce the work week at the plant from 48 to 40 hours, it was announced Tuesday night.

The union-conducted vote was held after union leaders suggested a reduction in the work week to prevent the impending layoff of some 200 workers at the beginning of the year.

The company announced earlier this month that some 200 workers would be laid off when zinc production at the big smelter is reduced 25 per cent beginning Jan. 1.

Spreckels Guilty Of Beating Ex-Wife

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Sugar heir Adolph Spreckles II was convicted by a jury Tuesday of simple assault on his fifth ex-wife, actress Kay Williams.

The jury thus reduced the gravity of the charge on which he stood trial—felonious assault with intent to do great bodily harm—to a misdemeanor.

Spreckles was charged with beating Miss Williams with her own jeweled slipper.

Superior Judge Robert Gardner set Jan. 3 for sentencing.

IN THE COMMONS

Low Denies Socreds Uphold McCarthy

OTTAWA (BUP) — Social Credit leader Solon Low declared Tuesday his party "is not now . . . and is not getting ready to" champion McCarthyism in Canada.

Low made the statement in Commons on a question affecting his privilege as a member of Parliament and national leader of the party.

The party leader's statement was taken as a repudiation of the defense of Sen. McCarthy voiced in the Commons two weeks ago by John Blackmore (SC, Lethbridge), former deputy leader of the party. Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC, Macleod), national president of the party, took over the deputy leadership when the new Parliament assembled last month.

CRITICIZE PHILPOTT

Low criticized an article written by Elmore Philpott in the Vancouver Sun, Dec. 8, in which Philpott, now a member of Parliament for Vancouver-South, said "it would appear that the Social Credit party may be getting ready to make itself the deliberate and vocal champion of McCarthyism in Canada."

Low said:

"Columnist Elmore Philpott is just as far off base as he has been in many of his wild speculations of late years. I want to make it clear to him and all others in Canada that the Social Credit movement, of which I have the honor to be the spokesman, is not now championing McCarthyism in Canada, and is not getting ready to do so in the future.

BLACKMORE SILENT

Low made no direct reference to Blackmore. He was applauded by his group, and neither Blackmore nor Philpott, who were in the chamber at the time, made any comment.

"We have always urged, and we do now strongly urge, that every effort be made to keep Communists and Communist sympathizers out of government departments and our vital industries," Low said. "But when inquiries are instituted for screening or for other security purposes in Canada, we strongly urge that they be conducted under the unabridged rule of law; that great care be taken to insure that men are not found guilty merely by association, and that the rights and freedoms of individual Canadians be fully respected and the dignity of our courts and legal processes be most carefully safeguarded," Low said.

Playgrounds Need Money Most, Says Retiring Alderman

Ald. Waldo Skillings said Tuesday he found out during his mayoralty election campaign that citizens want more money spent on playgrounds and less on ornamentation of parks and boulevards.

Presiding over his last meeting as chairman of the city's parks committee, he said: "No matter where I went, it was always the same."

Ald. Brent Murdoch said he agreed: "Playgrounds should come first."

Ald. Skillings offered his comments when parks administrator Herb Warren sought authorization to make certain changes to boulevard trees on Pandora Avenue.

Ald. Skillings said he didn't thing it right for this year's committee to authorize any new expenditures.

Canada Asked to Pay $5,000 as Share for Airmen's Memorial

Canada's share of the amount required to erect a Memorial to Commonweatlh airmen who lost their lives while stationed in Yorkshire, England, is $5,000, it has been announced by Air Vice-Marshal G. E. Brooks of Toronto, and Air Vice Marshal C. E. MacEwen, of Montreal, co-chairman of the York Minster Memorial Committee for Canada. The story about the memorial was in Saturdays' weekend Picture Magazine.

Relatives of the airmen, present or ex-RCAF personnel, or anyone interested in perpetuating the memory of the gallant Canadians who lost their lives while serving in Northern England, may send contributions to H. E. Langford, The Treasurer (Canada), York Minster Memorial Fund, c/o Chartered Trust Company, 34 King Street West, Toronto 1.

Marpole Bridge Back in Operation

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rickety old Marpole Bridge, connecting Vancouver with Sea Island and International airport, creaked back into operation Tuesday night after a 12-day closure to road traffic. The swing bridge was put out of action Dec. 3 when hit by two barges.

Lorne McCutcheon Former CNS Agent In Indies, Dead

TORONTO (CP)—Lorne McCutcheon, 59, former general agent of Canadian National Steamships in the West Indies, died Tuesday after a brain operation.

Born in Vancouver, he started his career as private secretary to D. C. Coleman, later president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Later he was foreign freight agent of CNR in Vancouver and Ottawa and went to the British West Indies as general agent of CNS at both Barbados and Jamaica.

MORE DOING—LESS HARPING

Appropriate Gifts For the Son of Man

By A. J. PICKFORD
Forestry Employee, Roman Catholic

IT IS the secret hope of every parent that his child may one day contribute something to the world; yet no infant throughout Christendom has given more to mankind than the Son of God. Christmas is His birthday. It is also a time for giving. No other holiday is celebrated more lavishly or with such feeling of brotherly love. Despite all that is good and fitting on this day, we give little thought to HIM Whose birthday it is.

One may ask "Is there on earth an appropriate gift for the Son of Man?" I think there is. Here are my gift suggestions:

More of us to "improve," "fewer merely to disapprove."

More "doers," fewer "talkers."

More to say "it can be done," fewer to say "it can't be done."

More to inspire others with "confidence," fewer to throw "cold water" on anyone taking even one step in the right direction.

More to get into the thick of things and "do something about it," fewer to sit on the side lines merely "finding fault."

More to point out "what's right with the world," fewer to keep harping on "what's wrong with it."

More to be interested in "lighting candles," fewer in blowing them out.

I believe that any one of these aims, honestly applied, is not only a fitting birthday present for Our Lord, but a Christmas gift to the whole of humanity.

MINISTERS DETERMINED

Berlin Meeting Won't Shake NATO

PARIS (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty ministers agreed today that the Western Big Three must hold fast against Soviet efforts to break up their 14-nation defensive alliance.

With pledges from British, American and French foreign ministers that NATO will not be surrendered at the proposed January talks with the Russians at Berlin, the NATO ministers began drafting a "hold fast" platform for the West in the final NATO council communique, official sources said.

The ministers unanimously agreed Soviet strategy and the Kremlin's ultimate aim of world domination for Communism will not be changed even if Moscow agrees to mee in a four-power ministerial conference on the German and Austrian issues. The Russians have not yet replied to the Western invitation to such a meeting.

The NATO council of ministers went into their closing sessions considerably cheered by the Eisenhower administration's pledge to try to get congressional approval for sharing some U.S. secrets on atom weapons.

U.S. PWs Ready To Return Home Says South Korean

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—An escaped South Korean prisoner of the Communists said today three or four of the 22 Americans held by the Reds want to go home but fear their companions will stab them to death if they request repatriation or make a break for freedom.

United States envoy Arthur H. Dean headed today for Washington.

As he boarded an airliner here, Dean told reporters it is "distinctly possible" talks to set up a peace conference will be resumed.

Nanaimo Youth Held Following Father's Death

RCMP Find Evidence Of Violent Fight

NANAIMO (CP)—A 15-year-old boy is in custody here today in connection with the death of his father in a fight in their home, police reported.

The victim was George Harold Kenny, 49. RCMP officers who discovered his body said there was evidence of a "violent struggle."

The fight occurred at Kenny's home in South Wellington, six miles south of here.

Results of a post-mortem examination by Coroner Dr. H. W. Lewis were not revealed, but unconfirmed reports indicated the victim had suffered a broken neck and broken jaw.

He was dead when police arrived. A farmer and logger, he had formerly lived in Alberni.

U.S. Allows TCA Extension To Mexico

OTTAWA (CP)—The United States has agreed to lift restrictions hampering the extension of the Trans-Canada Air Lines Montreal-Tampa air route to Mexico City, it was learned today.

Transport Minister Chevrier is expected to announce this in the Commons later today.

Under previous U.S. regulations, TCA was requested to use two aircraft in opening the proposed new Montreal-Mexico City flight, one aircraft taking passengers to Tampa and the other picking up passengers at Tampa for the remainder of the flight to Mexico City.

TCA protested that the use of two aircraft was uneconomic. Opening of the new line was suspended and the Canadian government took preliminary steps to impose similar restrictions on American air line flying over Canadian territory.

However, at a two-day Washington conference between Canadian and American officials, agreement was reached to end the controversy with the U.S. lifting its curb on TCA. Canada is expected to take similar action to withdraw action against the American air lines.

Labor Censure, Party Split Hits Tories

LONDON (UP) — The Labor Party launched a censure attack over African affairs at the government today while a Conservative "revolt" against it over Egypt gained strength.

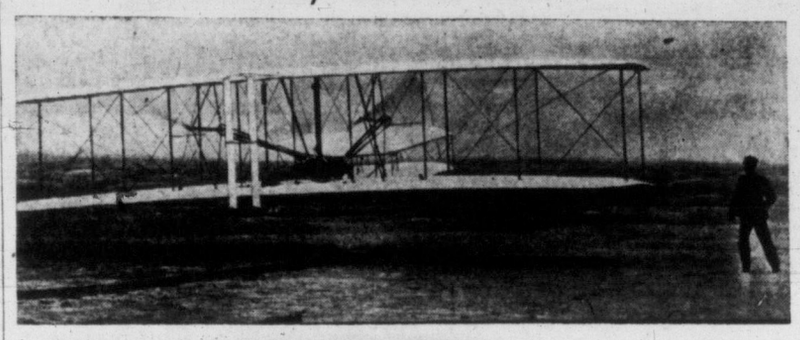
The Laborite censure motion sponsored by former prime minister Clement Attlee and other top party leaders was scheduled to come to a vote tonight. Prime Minister Churchill's government seemed certain to win.

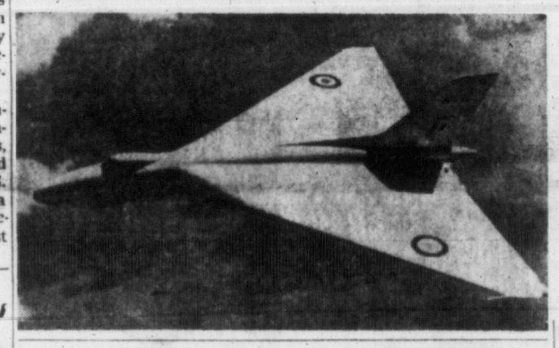
But more Conservative members of parliament added their names to a motion urging the government to break off negotiations with Egypt over Suez Canal zone. The "rebels," now numbering 39, warned withdrawal of British troops from the canal zone would endanger Israel and might involve Britain in a Middle Eastern war.

With the government's majority only 18 in the House of Commons, the rebels could be a dangerous fact or in the event of a showdown.

Flyer Hits 1,650 MPH In Flying's 50th Year

From Kitty Hawk to 'Mach 2'





Three pictures giving a glimpse of the vast strides in aviation in 50 years. Top is the rickety contraption in which Orville Wright flew for 120 feet at eight miles an hour on December 17, 1903, the first powered flight in history. Second is a Viscount Turbo-Prop which Trans-Canada Airlines has ordered for Canadian service. At left is Britain's new delta-winged jet bomber, Avro 698, which demonstrates the enormous changes in aircraft design.

New World's Record For U.S. Rocket Plane

WASHINGTON (UP)—Maj. Charles E. Yeager has flown two and one-half times the speed of sound—about 1,650 miles an hour—in the air force's X-1A rocket plane, it was reported today.

Informed sources said the West Virginia-born test pilot achieved the record-shattering speed last Saturday in an historic flight over Edwards Air Force base, California.

Yeager thus regained the title of the world's fastest man which he had won originally on Oct. 14, 1947, in the X-1 rocket-powered research plane, a ship of shorter endurance than the X-1A. Both were built by Bell Aircraft Corp.

Yeager's reported speed eclipsed the officially-announced all-time record of 1,327 mph which was set Nov. 21 by Scott Crossfield, test pilot for the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Crossfield flew the navy's Douglas-built Skyrocket. He claims to be the first to fly twice the speed of sound.

Sound travels at 760 miles an hour at sea level, but drops off to about 660 mph in the cold air above 30,000 feet.

It was learned there is a controversy within the government over whether to announce Yeager's feat. One segment of the air force hopes that President Eisenhower will announce it officially, with precise figures on speed and altitude, at an aero club dinner here Thursday night marking the 50th anniversary of powered flight.

Carried Aloft in Belly of Bomber

Yeager's reported speed of two and a half times the speed of sound in the fat, stubby-winger X-1A is half-mile per second. Just 50 years ago Thursday, by contrast, the Wright brothers plane flew 852 feet in 59 seconds on the longest of four hops it made at Kitty Hawk, N.C.

Neither the X-1A nor the Skyrocket is a combat plane. Both are research craft designed to gather data about high-speed flight for use in desinging practical warplanes. Both have very limited endurance. They are carried aloft in the belly of a bomber and released at high altitudes to fly under their own power.

The fastest speed known to have been reached by a U.S. combat plane was 1.38 times the speed of sound—about 910 mph. It was learned an air force F-100 Supersabre was flown that fast last week, although there has been no official announcement.

The original X-1 was designed to fly 1,700 mph at 80,000 feet but could not quite make it because it couldn't carry enough fuel. The X-1A is similarly equipped, with four 1,500-pound thrust rocket motors, but can carry more of the liquid oxygen and alcohol-water mixture used as fuel.

Orville Wright's First Power Flight Recalled

In Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, tomorrow great celebrations will take place to mark the 50th year since man first took to the air in powered flight.

It was on December 17, 1903, that Orville Wright made his historic flight, after years of experiments.

He lay at full length on the flimsy contraption, grabbing the primitive controls. There was a 27-mile-an-hour wind. The plane was set on a track laid on the sands.

Orville's own description of the flight, written before his death in 1948, was simple:

"Wilbur having used his turn in the unsuccessful attempts on the 14th (December, 1903), the right to the first trial now belonged to me."

"After running the motor the machine started forward . . . I released the wire that held the machine to the track . . . It lifted from the track after a 40-foot run."

"The course of the plane up and down was erratic. At moments it rose as high as 10 feet.

"A sudden dart when a little over 100 feet from the end of the track, or a little over 120 feet from the point at which it rose into the air, ended the flight."

The historic flight lasted 12 seconds.

Canada Plays Top Role In Advance of Aviation

A half-century of startling progress in the field of powered flight ends Thursday.

On Dec. 17, 1903, the first aircraft driven by a motor took to the air, but even before that time, Canadians were playing a leading role in research and experimentation.

Since then, the progressive advance of civil air transport has helped make Canada a power in the world.

In this nation, aerodynamic reasearch began in 1902, in a wind tunnel constructed by Walter R. Turnbull of New Brunswick. During the First World War, he developed the basic variable pitch constant speed propeller, the fundamental ideas of which are in use today.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell also conducted early experiments with kites and air screws, at Baddeck, N.S., and his work prepared the way for the first known aeroplane flight in the Commonwealth. J. A. D. McCurdy, former lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, flew the "Silver Dart" from the ice at Baddeck Bay in 1909. This was the first plane to use aileron control, without which modern day flight woud be next to impossible.

Following the First World War, commercial "bush" flying developed in Canada, and the experience gained by these pioneer pilots formed the basis for present-day commercial aviation.

Canadians have also been active at the council tables where representatives of governments and airlines establish international order in air transport procedures and practices.

The first president of international Air Transport Association was H. J. Symington, a Canadian, and headquarters of both IATA and International Civil Aviation Organization were estabished in Montreal, primarily because of the lead Canadians had taken in these activities.

Canadian airlines will distribute golden anniversary flight certificates to all passengers Thursday.

DUNTON PREDICTS 2ND STATION

CBUT-TV Telecasts Start at 6 Tonight

CBC-TV is in partnership with private interests to establish a Canadian network, A. Davidson Dunton, chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, announced in Vancouver today.

In B.C. to open CBC's west coast outlet at 6 p.m. to day CBUT-TV, Mr. Dunton said "We expect that there will be at least one more TV station in the Vancouver area eventually".

Opening program will feature Bernie Braden and Barbara Kelly, both of Vancouver, now starring on British TV, in a film short.

Broadcasting on Channel 2, CBUT will be operating on a limited five-hour schedule until completion of a permanent antenna on Mount Seymour and studios in downtown Vancouver.

For the present, programs will be nearly all of eastern Canadian origin, with the exception of news and local sports coverage.

Reception of test patterns has assured viewers of a powerful signal, and next year, when the present 2,500 watt output is increased to 100,000 watts, the picture will be better.

CBUT's transmitter and antenna has been designed to give the maximum range. Beamed toward the heavily-populated Fraser Valley and to the TV-conscious homes of Vancouver Island, Vancouver's transmitter antenna is located on the 2,700 foot level of Mount Seymour, highest of any TV station in Canada.

WIRE BRIEFS

U.K. Rail Strike Off

LONDON (UP)—Union leaders tentatively agreed today to accept a compromise "peace" plan and call off a scheduled nation-wide Christmas railway strike.

Housing Bill Presented

OTTAWA (BUP)—The government's new Housing Act, which will permit Canadians to build $10,000 homes with down payments of $1,400 and 25 years to pay, was introduced by Public Works Minister Robert H. Winters today.

Stampede Founder Dies

CALGARY (CP) — Funeral services for Guy Weadick, originator of the world-famous Calgary Stampede, will be held in High River, Alta., on a date yet to be announced. Weadick died suddenly Monday in retirement at Phoenix, Ariz. He was 68.

Church Leader Dead

TORONTO (CP)—Rev. Dr. Gordon Alfred Sisco, secretary of the general council of the United Church of Canada since 1936, died early today. He was 62.

Fearful Friends Of Toronto Girl Quit Their Jobs

TORONTO (BUP)—Two girls who worked in a downtown office next to kidnapped Marion McDowell and slain Norma Schreiber quit their jobs today, terrified they might be next, although police insisted the two crimes were sheer coincidence.

Neither girl reported for work today, and both told their employers they wouldn't be back. They said they couldn't face the strain of staring at those two empty desks.

Joseph Shreiber, 27-year-old brokerage clerk, was charged with murder Tuesday after his blonde 23-year-old wife was found strangled in their east end Toronto apartment.

He appeared in court today and was remanded to December 23. Police said there would be several more remands before the case comes to a hearing.

A BOWL OF BARLEY GRUEL

Korea Fund Praised by Sailor

"It's impossible to tell how you feel about seeing a child starving," says 24-year-old PO Tom Reynolds, aboard Athabaskan which has just returned from 14 months in Korean waters.

"You can't explain things like that . . . all the guys give them everything they've got anyway . . . but there are so many of them . . ."

He was commenting on the "good work" of The Times' fund to aid Korea's 50,000 war orphans. Money collected on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee stands today at $5,990.26. Exactly 210 people donated since Tuesday.

The USC objective is $125,000 by Christmas. Funds will go to buy Canadian barley which will be made into hot gruel for the hordes of emaciated children roaming streets and alleys. Both time and money are short.

Korea, says PO Reynolds, is a backward country by modern standards, but the Koreans are an industrious race. They can't help the predicament they are in . . . nor can they help their children. Before the recent conflict Korea exported huge quantities of rice. Today the nation is starving. At the "level" of the kids, this hurts most.

"They are the left-overs," he says.

Close to 1,000 people have responded to date to The Times' appeal. A letter received today from a Sidney man read: "You have been very generous . . . my blind sister and I have decided to have no extras for Christmas and sent what it would be to the Korean orphans."

More and more contributions are being received from companies, church groups, lodges and from service personnel funds. The 119th Battery at Work Point Barracks donated today, as did men aboard HMCS Sioux.

Contributions may be brought or mailed to The Times' Broad Street office, or to the office at 2631 Douglas Street. Cheques may be made payable to The Times' fund or The Times' Korean children's fund.

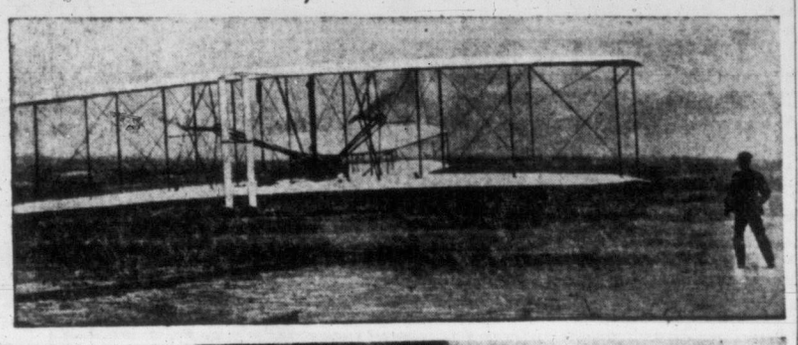
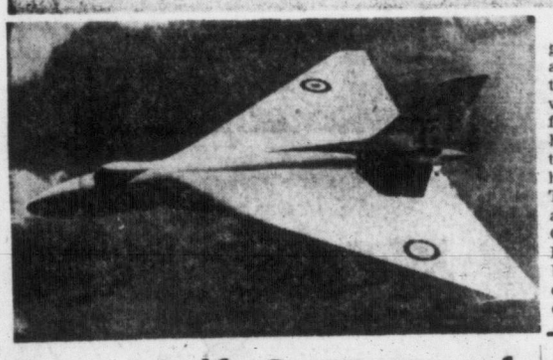
ISLAND YOUTH CHARGED AFTER FATHER SLAIN

From Kitty Hawk to 'Mach 2.5'





Three pictures giving a glimpse of the vast strides in aviation in 50 years. Top is the rickety contraption in which Orville Wright flew for 120 feet at eight miles an hour on December 17, 1903, the first powered flight in history. Second is a Viscount Turbo-Prop which Trans-Canada Airlines has ordered for Canadian service. At left is Britain's new delta-winged jet bomber, Avro 698, which demonstrates the enormous changes in aircraft design.

First Half Century of Flying Celebrated

In Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, tomorrow great celebrations will take place to mark the 50th year since man first took to the air in powered flight.

It was on December 17, 1903, that Orville Wright made his historic flight, after years of experiments.

He lay at full length on the flimsy contraption, grabbing the primitive controls. There was a 27-mile-an-hour wind. The plane was set on a track laid on the sands.

Orville's own description of the flight, written before his death in 1948, was simple:

"Wilbur having used his turn in the unsuccessful attempts on the 14th (December, 1903), the right to the first trial now belonged to me."

"After running the motor the machine started forward . . . I released the wire that held the machine to the track . . . It lifted from the track after a 40-foot run."

"The course of the plane up and down was erratic. At moments it rose as high as 10 feet.

"A sudden dart when a little over 100 feet from the end of the track, or a little over 120 feet from the point at which it rose into the air, ended the flight."

The historic flight lasted 12 seconds.

New World Air Speed Record Made in U.S.

Rocket Plane Hits 1,650 MPH As Flying's 50th Birthday Near

WASHINGTON (UP)—Maj. Charles E. Yeager has flown two and one-half times the speed of sound—about 1,650 miles an hour—in the air force's X-1A rocket plane, it was reported today.

Informed sources said the West Virginia-born test pilot achieved the record-shattering speed last Saturday in an historic flight over Edwards Air Force base, California.

Yeager thus regained the title of the world's fastest man which he had won originally on Oct. 14, 1947, in the X-1 rocket-powered research plane, a ship of shorter endurance than the X-1A. Both were built by Bell Aircraft Corp.

Yeager's reported speed eclipsed the officially-announced all-time record of 1,327 mph which was set Nov. 21 by Scott Crossfield, test pilot for the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Crossfield flew the navy's Douglas-built Skyrocket. He claims to be the first to fly twice the speed of sound.

Sound travels at 760 miles an hour at sea level, but drops off to abou 660 mph in the cold air above 30,000 feet.

It was learned there is a controversy within the government over whether to announce Yeager's feat. One segment of the air force hopes that President Eisenhower will announce it officially, with precise figures on speed and altitude, at an aero club dinner here Thursday night marking the 50th anniversary of powered flight.

Carried Aloft in Belly of Bomber

Yeager's reported speed of two and a half times the speed of sound in the fat, stubby-winger X-1A is half-mile per second. Just 50 years ago Thursday, by contrast, the Wright brother plane flew 852 feet in 59 seconds on the longest of four hops it made at Kitty Hawk, N.C.

Neither the X-1A nor the Skyrocket is a combat plane. Both are research craft designed to gather data about high-speed flight for use in designing practical warplanes. Both have very limited endurance. They are carried aloft in the belly of a bomber and released at high altitudes to fly under their own power.

The fastest speed known to have been reached by a U.S. combat plane was 1.38 times the speed of sound—about 910 mph. It was learned an air force F-100 Supersabre was flown that fast last week, although there has been no official announcement.

The original X-1 was designed to fly 1,700 mph at 80,000 feet but could not quite make it because it couldn't carry enough fuel. The X-1A is similarly equipped, with four 1,500-pound thrust rocket motors, but can carry more of the liquid oxygen and alcohol-water mixture used as fuel.

★★★★ BULLETINS

New Evidence

MARKHAM, Ont. (CP) — Chief of Police Wideman of Markham said today "something important in the Marion McDowell kidnapping case" has been uncovered.

Markham is 25 miles northeast of Toronto.

Chief Wideman said no body has been found but "something of significance in the case" has turned up.

A police detail was sent from Scarborough township police to Markham to study the evidence.

No NATO Boost

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said this afternoon in the Commons Canada has not pledged any increase in NATO commitments next year.

He informed M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, that there might be some changes in how Canada's contributions to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are "applied."

U.K. Rail Strike Off

LONDON (UP)—Union leaders tentatively agreed today to accept a compromise "peace" plan and call off a scheduled nation-wide Christmas railway strike.

Yanks Get Byrd

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Athletics in a baseball trade involving 13 players today gave pitcher Harry Byrd and first baseman Eddie Robinson to New York Yankees for eight players and $25,000.

50 Affected

About 50 Victoria B.C. Electric gas workers will be affected by a strike vote to be taken Monday among the company's 250 workers here and in Vancouver.

Announcement was made in Vancouver by George Gee, business agent for International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 213.

$50,000 Blaze

VANCOUVER (CP) — Flames shot 100 feet into the air today as fire exploded through the abandoned Robertson and Hackett sawmill here today and caused $50,000 damage.

Firemen from five halls and the city fire boat battled the blaze at the False Creek mill, just below Granville Bridge, for more than an hour.

Shut down for more than a year, the mill was being dismantled by the P. E. Bingham Co.

Housing Bill Presented

OTTAWA (BUP)—The government's new Housing Act, which will permit Canadians to build $10,000 homes with down payments of $1,400 and 25 years to pay, was introduced by Public Works Minister Robert H. Winters today.

Police Satisfied Boy Defending Self

NANAIMO (CP) — Fifteen-year-old Milton Kenny was charged with murder in police court here today in the death of his father, found beaten in their farm home.

George Harold Kenny, 49, was found dead by RCMP officers after neighbors reported a family quarrel. He had suffered a broken neck and jaw. There was evidence of a "violent struggle."

Police said they were satisfied that the boy, a strapping six-footer, was fighting in self defense. They said his father had been drinking almost steadily for three weeks.

Kenny, a farmer and logger, came to South Wellington from Alberni, a year ago.

The slaying occurred in a farm house at South Wellington, six miles south of here.

NO PLEA

The boy appeared in juvenile court first and was then transferred to police court, where the murder charge was read. There was no plea.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts remanded him until Dec. 23, when a further remand is expected to be granted.

The magistrate said there had been controversy between himself and the attorney-general's department as to where the boy should be held. He said the boy would be held here and at times he would be "restricted and at times he would see his family."

The boy's mother was in court when the charge was read and thanked the magistrate for consideration of her son. Young Kenny appeared calm.

Police said no inquest will be held.

MINISTERS DETERMINED

Berlin Meeting Won't Shake NATO

PARIS (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty ministers agreed today that the Western Big Three must hold fast against Soviet efforts to break up their 14-nation defensive alliance.

With pledges from British, American and French foreign ministers that NATO will not be surrendered at the proposed January talks with the Russians at Berlin, the NATO ministers began drafting a "hold fast" platform for the West in the final NATO council communique, official sources said.

The ministers unanimously agreed Soviet strategy and the Kremlin's ultimate aim of world domination for Communism will not be changed even if Moscow agrees to meet in a four-power ministerial conference on the German and Austrian issues. The Russians have not yet replied to the Western invitation to such a meeting.

The NATO council of ministers went into their closing sessions considerably cheered by the Eisenhower administration's pledge to try to get congressional approval for sharing some U.S. secrets on atom weapons.
